Fleming Bares Coyne Clash, Will Ask House to Fire Him

FLEMING PRESENTS BUDGET TUESDAY

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming announced today he will present his long-delayed budget next Tuesday evening, June 20.

The minister's announcement, ending weeks of waiting, was made while the House awaited a statement by him on the Coyne dispute.

There had been widespread speculation that the Coyne issue had been a factor in the delay in bringing down the budget—normally presented around the April 1 start of the fiscal year.

Forget Power Export Urges Liberal Chief

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia should forget about exporting hydro power to the United States and concentrate on the development of power-oriented industries at home, Liberal Leader Perrault said today.

"The premier's... talk about an eager and waiting re-export market is foolish and utterly irresponsible," said Mr. Perrault in a detailed statement on the party's position on power exports.

He added that Premier W. A. C. Bennett's Social Credit government's power policy is one of "deliberate confusion."

"We (the Liberals) can see no substantial market for export power in the northwest, even states until at least 1970. My personal estimate now has been advanced... to at least 1975."

NEW EXCHANGE DEAL FOR REBEL LEADERS

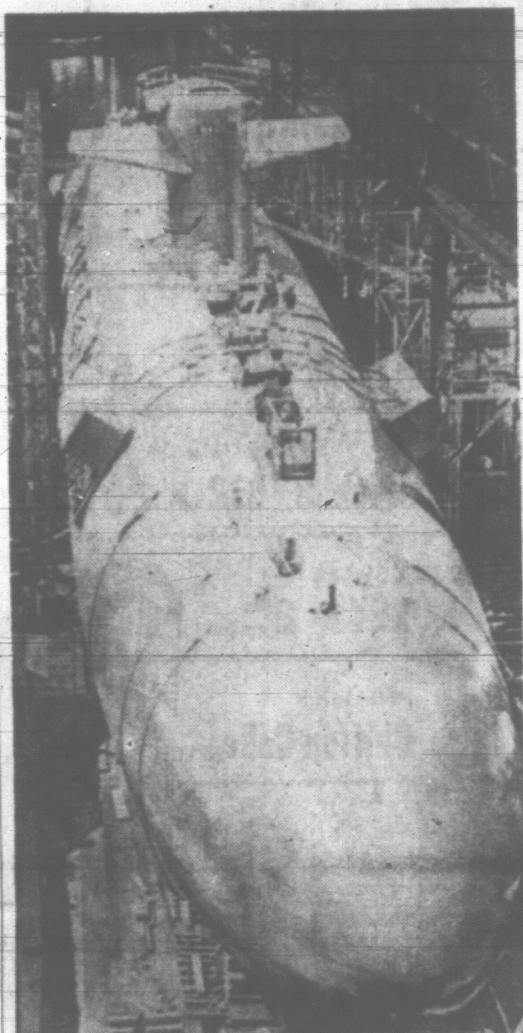

Castro Wants Killer Freed

HAVANA (UPI)—The Castro government said today it would exchange the three captured leaders of last April's abortive invasion attempt only for a convicted child slayer, an imprisoned U.S. Communist leader and the head of Puerto Rico's Nationalist party.

That is the only basis on which the three invasion commanders will be freed, the government-controlled morning newspapers announced.

The announcement came as American farm experts were expected to start negotiations here on Premier Fidel Castro's proposed exchange of U.S. made tractors for the 1,200 captured invaders.

The leaders of the invasion were Manuel Artime, Jose San Roman, and Rafael Bolivar Fuentes.

Bargaining Near For Laos Peace

GENEVA (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, who wants to become premier of a neutral Laos, told the Geneva Laotian conference today that if his country becomes completely independent it will never allow foreign troops or bases on its soil.

"We will proclaim our neutrality and our desire not to enter into any military alliances," he said.

Souvanna, 60, came to Geneva with his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Communist-backed Pathet Lao rebels. Souvanna calls himself a neutralist and is recognized by the Communists as Laos' legal premier.

The two are to meet Prince Boun Oum, premier of the Western-supported royal Lao government Saturday at Zurich.

The storm of East-West accusations at the 14-nation parley has showed signs of abating. Long-delayed bargaining on rival peace plans may be near.

Western spokesmen indicated they are ready to call for the conference to break up into working groups to consider Soviet and Western proposals for unifying and neutralizing the southeast Asian kingdom and keeping it peaceful.

While the delegates debated, reports reaching U.S. officials in Geneva said the fighting continues in Laos, with the Communist Pathet Lao forces maintaining pressure in northern, central and southeastern Laos.

NO UNDUE REPRESSION

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (UPI)—The inter-American investigators sent here last week will return to Washington Wednesday "more or less satisfied" that there has been no undue repression as a result of the May 30 assassination of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, it was reported today.

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Taylor did not attend the meeting because he had been called away by a death in his family.

Mr. Pearson maintained the government's explanation for its request for Mr. Coyne's resignation is a rationalization of the mess it got itself into through its own arrogance and arbitrariness.

Probe Bid Launched By Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Pearson said today a parliamentary committee should investigate policy differences between the government and Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada.

He criticized the government for its "heads-will-roll attitude" and said that if it continued, Canada would not be a free country long.

Mr. Pearson spoke for the Liberal Opposition in the Commons after Finance Minister Fleming announced the government would ask Parliament to act on his request that Mr. Coyne resign from the governorship of the bank—a request Mr. Coyne refused.

He criticized Mr. Fleming for saying today that there had been a steady and deplorable deterioration in relations between the government and the bank, saying that earlier the minister had insisted the government had no authority over bank policy.

Directors Ask Coyne To Resign

OTTAWA (CP) — Governor James E. Coyne, of the Bank of Canada, Tuesday night piled more fuel on the controversy over the federal government's request for his resignation.

The governor disclosed at a press conference the central bank directors, by a vote of 9 to 1, at a Quebec City meeting Tuesday morning, had called for his resignation after unsuccessful appeals to Finance Minister Fleming to keep the issue open.

Mr. Coyne said the directors' resignation demand—the purpose of which was "to support the government"—was refused along with Mr. Fleming's request.

He told reporters the board lacks power to fire him—"it probably takes an act of Parliament."

He didn't indicate whether he thinks the government will take this step.

Hints 'Expansion' Monetary Policy In New Budget

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming made clear in a Commons statement today that the government will move in Parliament to oust James E. Coyne, controversial Bank of Canada governor.

Minutes later, on a move by Opposition Leader Pearson, the House opened an emergency debate on the government's May 30 request—rejected Tuesday by Mr. Coyne—that he resign immediately.

This climaxed swift-moving developments in which Mr. Fleming announced he will present his long-delayed budget next Tuesday night and accused the central bank governor of frustrating the government's hope of "expansionist" action to boost the economy.

There was immediate speculation—which Mr. Fleming's statement did nothing to discourage—that the "expansionist" policies will be announced in the budget.

He wound up his statement with the announcement that the government shortly will take "appropriate legislative action to meet the needs of the situation."

FLEMING BARES COYNE CLASH

government's May 30 request for his resignation.

"In so doing he left the public with the false impression that the only request for his resignation had come from the government."

Mr. Coyne told a press conference Tuesday night of the board of directors' request.

Mr. Coyne had described as "mysterious and alarming" a suggestion he said Mr. Fleming made to him that one reason the government wanted him out of the way was that certain programs were being prepared which it was thought the governor would oppose.

To this, Mr. Fleming said today the governor may have left a certain false impression with the public.

Mr. Coyne has not been told of the contents of the forthcoming budget and therefore has no right to express views about it, the minister said.

He noted also that the

He said the administration allows problems to go on and on, hoping they will disappear.

When the problem became a crisis, the government took panic action based on political expediency.

Mr. Pearson said Finance Minister Fleming was telling Mr. Coyne the latter's speeches were embarrassing the government at the same time Mr. Fleming was telling the Commons that Mr. Coyne was free to say what he wanted.

Mr. Pearson said the government has given the "sinister" impression that Mr. Coyne had taken action on his own to increase his pension.

The government had taken months to decide that this action didn't meet the high moral standards of Mr. Fleming.

Mr. Fleming again maintained that he had learned about the matter only "this spring."

Mr. Pearson said Mr. Fleming's statement was "all the more incredible" because the bank's board of directors met rarely and presumably the minister would be interested in finding out what went on at its meetings.

GOVERNMENT DUTY

If Mr. Coyne had been frustrating government policy, surely it was the duty of the government to bring the matter before the Commons. If what Mr. Fleming now said was true, why hadn't he informed the Commons long ago?

Mr. Pearson said that for months Mr. Fleming in reply to Commons questions had given the impression that there was no conflict between Mr. Coyne and the government.

Now Mr. Fleming said conflict had existed. He had thus shaken public confidence in the relationship between the government and the central bank.

Mr. Pearson described as "extraordinary" Mr. Fleming's admission that he had not consulted Mr. Coyne on preparation of the budget.

governor had said he was given no indication by the government of disagreement with his views on economic policy.

"In my last two budgets and in various other public statements," Mr. Fleming said, "it has been clear for some time that there have been major differences of opinion with the frequently-expressed views of the governor on economic matters."

Both the board and the government had asked for his resignation but in the face of this he had stated his determination to remain in office, "though unwanted," for the remaining 6½ months of his term.

Dealing with the pension issue — the increase to $25,000 from $12,000 in the governor's special pension on retirement this year — Mr. Fleming said the government became aware only this spring of the increase approved by the bank directors Feb. 15 last year.

The government "considers that the governor was lacking in a sense of responsibility in keeping with his high office in accepting an additional benefit worth $13,000 a year for life without ensuring that the matter was brought to the attention of the government."

The minister said the government—not the governor—

"has been continuously defending the integrity of the Bank of Canada."

"For this, and for this alone, the government has patiently borne misunderstanding and even abuse in the hope of shielding the bank from becoming, as a result of the actions and assertions of the governor, a centre of political controversy."

Committee Study Set On War Measures Act

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA — A special Commons committee was authorized Tuesday to study revision of the War Measures Act so that protection for personal freedoms could be injected into the powerful instrument for Canadian mobilization in the event of emergencies.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker also said he hopes that Parliament can wrap up its business by June 30, but reiterated his suggestion that July and August be taken for holidays if that deadline is missed—as appears a strong possibility.

Today's business was the spending estimates of the public works department, but main developments were expected to centre on the request by the government and the board of directors of the Bank of Canada that Governor James E. Coyne resign—a move he resists.

Liberal J. W. Pickersgill Tuesday night chided government back-benchers for lengthy discussion of a government bill, eventually given third and final reading, to increase farm credit facilities. The member for Bonaville-Twillingate asked acidly what legislation the back-benchers were going to filibuster today, and said that if the government got the same degree of co-operation from its own supporters that it was getting from the opposition, "this session would have been over long ago."

Besides the special committee and the farm credit bill, the Commons gave third reading to Canada Shipping Act amendments and second reading—approval in principle—to technical revisions in the housekeeping functions of the Financial Administration Act.

Pace Slowed From Monday's Rate

But the pace was slowed from Monday's accelerated rate, largely because of the back-bench discussion of the bill adding another $100,000,000 in farm credit facilities to a total $300,000,000.

Liberal and CCF spokesmen accepted Mr. Diefenbaker's proposal to set up a special 15-man committee on revising the War Measures Act to make it mesh with provisions of the Bill of Rights. But they criticized the government for appointing the committee at such a late date.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the War Measures Act, passed in 1914, gave the cabinet a free

Chinese Prepare For Global War

ATHENS (Reuters)—A Chinese professor who has been granted political asylum in Greece said Tuesday night that Communist China believes that a war between East and West is inevitable and is preparing for it.

Professor Wang Min Chuan told a press conference here: "I refuse to return to Peking because I do not agree with the line of the Chinese Communists. I prefer the line adopted by Soviet Russia, seeking co-existence."

Wang has been head of the Chinese department in the Higher Institute of Foreign Languages at Baghdad, Iraq, for two years. He was sent there under a program of cultural exchanges between Communist China and Iraq. He was recalled to Peking for "reorientation and education," he said Tuesday night. Last week, while his plane was refuelling at Athens, he sought political asylum.

3 PRESS REACTION TO U.K. COMMON MARKET PLANS

'Get a Move On' Mac Urged

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—What Britain should do about Europe and the Commonwealth is still the top talking point in the British press.

With virtually every newspaper pitching into the argument, three broad themes are apparent:

Britain is still "dragging its feet." It is still lacking in decisiveness in its wary approach to the European Economic Community. Time is growing short.

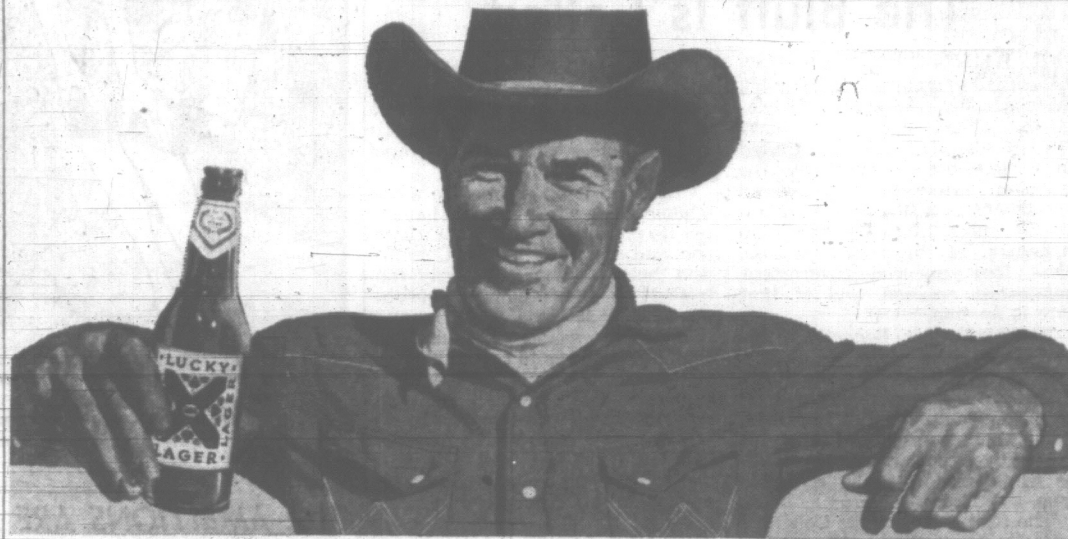

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's proposal for a ministerial conference, if necessary a meeting of prime ministers, may be useful later but is not appropriate now.

The recent tendency to regard British membership of the European community as something that will necessarily lead to the weakening or even the ultimate dissolution of the Commonwealth only tends to confuse the issue. In this vein, The Daily Telegraph distinguishes between supporters of the European concept, whose arguments it says are based "primarily on reason," and between "anti-Europeans who are striving to raise all kinds of doubts and terrors in the public mind."

The Conservative newspaper urges Prime Minister Macmillan to "get a move on," warning that the longer he hesitates the bigger the "man-made mountain of prejudice" will become. It deplores the tendency to view the issue as a case of Europe vs. the Commonwealth.

Similarly, The Guardian says the question for the government is not one of choosing between Europe and the Commonwealth but of finding the best way to satisfy the needs of both. It says a meeting of prime ministers "at this stage" would not be much help and might do harm.

The Bluff Is Called

MR. BENNETT HAS SUCCEEDED in stalling the Columbia power scheme indefinitely. It cannot go ahead until the treaty between Canada and the United States has been ratified by the Canadian Parliament. The federal government evidently has no intention of submitting the treaty to Parliament at the present session, unless the provincial government changes its position, and of that there is no sign.

In rejecting Mr. Bennett's terms the federal government, we believe, is quite right. For his plan to sell all the cheap downstream power of the Columbia to the United States, while Canadians use more expensive Peace River power, would reduce the whole project to an economic farce.

The first object of the Columbia treaty is to produce cheap power from turbines in the United States and to bring half of it back to Canada for Canadian use. If Canada's share of this supply is to be left in the United States the Canadian government can see no value in the scheme, except to the Americans.

Naturally, therefore, it will not ask Parliament to ratify the treaty until it knows for certain that the downstream power will be available to Canada as fast as it is needed here.

The other alternative plans submitted to Ottawa by Mr. Bennett are all unacceptable, as he must have known when he proposed them.

The federal government cannot guarantee the cost of Columbia power, delivered in Vancouver, to a fraction of a mill, since it cannot foresee the cost of money borrowed for construction costs.

Nor will it undertake the whole scheme alone when it would have to sell its power only to the B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission, both of them effectively controlled by the provincial government. For it could never be sure that these agencies would pay enough for power to cover the costs of the scheme.

Hence the present total stalemate between Victoria and Ottawa—a stalemate contrived by Mr. Bennett. He believes, and has made no secret of his belief, that he has the federal government over a barrel—that it will be blamed for the delay, and possibly the collapse of the entire Columbia project.

His bluff has now been called by the federal government. By withholding the treaty from Parliament, by refusing to alienate the Columbia's cheap downstream power to the competitive industries of the United States, the federal government has fixed the blame for delay where it belongs, on the shoulders of the provincial government.

Once the public understands these facts it will see that the federal government is determined to protect the nation's interests while Mr. Bennett is determined to sell our chance of cheap power down the river. He, and not the federal government, is now on the spot.

The Unyielding Negotiators

NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN the French government and Algerian rebel spokesmen have broken down again, and there will be a two-week delay before the talks are resumed. The Algerian war is now well into its seventh year and prospects of peace seem as far away as at any time.

It is true that the direct warfare has been halted, but the two sides are no nearer agreement even though they are now able to meet in a conference room. Disputes regarding the establishment of an independent Algeria apparently can find no solution without the compromise which neither side is prepared to grant. In addition the whole question has become involved in future ownership of the Sahara, now known to hold very valuable oil deposits.

France has administered the Sahara separately from Algeria since 1957. But the rebel Algerians demand that the territory be treated as part of an independent Algeria. This France refuses to do. The talks are deadlocked.

On the French side, of course, the situation is complicated by the opposition of the French residents of Algeria, who oppose independence for Algeria even to the point of fighting France over it. They fear that they will be submerged in the overwhelming majority of native Moslem Algerians, that as a white minority they will be doomed.

Despite the wide divergence of views, the only hope of solution lies in negotiation. The war has dragged on with a tremendous toll of lives and wealth, a serious drain on the French economy and a continuing threat to the strength of NATO forces. In the long run it has done nothing but create hatreds which may hamper a settlement for years to come.

Refresher on Forest Safety

WHILE RESIDENTS OF SOME Newfoundland communities fled homes threatened by flaming forests this week, British Columbians—as conscious of the danger of fire in the woods as any Canadians—had little reason for concern.

At present here and in most parts of this province the humidity is relatively high, the potential "fuel" in the forest is damp, the threat of an outbreak remote.

By present reckoning, there is no serious hazard and probably will be none until early in July, if weather conditions continue as they have been.

But two weeks of hot weather could make the difference. The forest floor could dry out. Tinder could be created for the first carelessly tossed match or cigaret stub.

The highly favorable situation on Vancouver Island should impress prospective holiday makers and vacationists with the desirability of renewing their safety education now. Motorists who may have developed thoughtless smoking habits over the winter and wet spring should begin to pay more attention to the messages on highways: "Keep B.C. Green. Use Your Ashtray." And parents might profitably remind their sons and daughters of the need to follow sane practice on over-night hikes and short camping sessions.

The creation of good safety habits which will preserve the forests is not accomplished in a day. The practices which add up to care in the woods and on the roads beside them are cultivated over a long period of time.

Generally speaking, British Columbians have shown an aptitude for fire-prevention education. They ought to. It's their money that goes up in smoke when the woods are aflame. They should intensify that education now, instilling caution into receptive minds and continuing to preach and practice it before the explosive point of dry forests and low humidity makes safety practices an essential that should be second nature.

An Attractive Welcome

ACCORDING TO THE ASSOCIATED Press, United States Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges thinks foreigners deserve a warmer welcome—from pretty girls—when they visit the United States.

Discussing ways to promote travel by foreign tourists, he told a news conference: "It wouldn't hurt to have a few pretty girls around that speak two or three languages that make people feel at home instead of having some guy who looks at you pretty tough and says, 'Let's see inside your bag.'"

A supporter of the idea states it has already been put into practice by 50 attractive young ladies hired by the American Immigration Service.

Travellers may smile at the suggestion, but will admit its appeal. Those who have crossed the Atlantic by air and landed briefly in Ireland's airport at Shannon may be particularly enthusiastic about the scheme.

When the aircraft touches down at that port, passengers react immediately and favorably to the beautifully rounded tones of some colleen's voice coming over the loud-speaker with information for them. When the green-clad young ladies from the airport greet the visitors as they step from their plane, "Sure 'tis like a morn in May."

Canadian airports and points of entry might well copy the greeting technique impressive to Americans and mastered so admirably on the Emerald Isle.

OUR AMBITIONS ARE MODEST

Over the Cliff to Peace and Quiet

AMBITION should be made of sterner stuff, Shakespeare wrote, but he was not reckoning with the conditions of our modern civilization. For the environment which modern man has created may make desirable many an objective which in earlier times would not have been thought important.

For many a human being today, for instance, mere peace and quiet are a life-long ambition. For thousands, perhaps millions, these two words sum up all that one could desire from life. We could almost say that for many they are the shining ideal, unattainable but avidly sought, of our age.

Yet there have been numerous eras in which peace and quiet must have held little appeal for the individual. For millions living the village life of the Middle Ages, for instance, peace and quiet must have been the chief components of the dull daily drudgery. The constant struggle to get enough to eat was no doubt engrossing, but it did not disturb the general peace and quiet.

Dull Existence

An occasional war or pestilence may have ruffled the calm, but these were vast developments over which the individual had no control and they were not so frequent that they could be relied on to bring to life even the interest of fear.

A passing juggler or minstrel, a beggar shuffling home from some unfortunate journey, must have been highlights in the life of the village dweller—something to be talked about and remembered for years.

Today, in contrast, our lives are surfeited with jugglers and minstrels of one kind or another. We live next door to war in Algeria; a parade in Moscow, a rocket firing in Florida, a riot in Japan, an atomic blast in the Sahara, a meeting in London—we are constantly being made spectators of events all over the world. They are exciting events, too, and the pressure is heavy to become participants in these events as well as spectators.

Many Problems

The result of this over-all activity, which bears upon the consciousness of every inhabitant of the globe, is to develop a state of mind which seeks relief in one way or another. To the general disturbance and excitement is added a burden of personal problems and complexities which the people of earlier eras could not have imagined.

To escape, some people seek peace and quiet. Others merely pine for it. But a few, spurred by all the activity, prefer to get even with the world by retaliating.

It is typical of our age that many a person would love to hurl eggs into an electric fan, and it is logical, from a psychological point of view, that this thought pops up time after time in our cartoons and stage humor. The sheer pleasure of creating a horrible mess would provide a valuable outlet for the pressures created in us by our environment. Even the thought of it helps a little.

Thus there should be widespread sympathy and admiration for the five college students in England who have been fined a pound each. Their offence was that they had hurled a grand piano over a 100-foot cliff.

(Typical of British reticence was the charge: depositing litter in a public place.)

What a terrific expression of emotion that act contained. One can easily imagine the fun of purchasing the piano; the long haul by truck to the cliff-top. The job of man-hauling it to the edge. The anticipatory delight of getting it to teeter. The climactic joy of toppling it. The cheer as it hurtled downwards. And the deep rich pleasure of hearing it crash, splinter, jangle, boom and splash on the rocks below.

Man, that's livin'.

Those five must have returned to their homes or their lodgings purified, content and at peace with the world.

Safety Valve

For quite a while, as the soothing thought of their adventure exerted its influence, parents would be safe from sharp retorts, cats would be safe from kicking, doors would be safe from slamming, professors would be treated with deference and patience; in short, the five would for a short time, at least, live finer, purer lives.

And all this without starting a war, enslaving a people, robbing a bank, launching a nuclear bomb or starting a fire.

It seems to be an easy way to peace and quiet.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Ideal of Individualism

In these days of mass thinking when many follow the path of custom just because it is popular, Professor H. Burdick's advice to the high school students could scarcely have been more appropriate. He indicated that "individualism and nonconformity were the two ideals."

Is not this good advice for all? But it seems to me that there is virtue in individualism and nonconformity only when principle is involved. For example, if an immodest style of dress is popular with women, it would be noble for one to think for herself and be willing to be considered odd rather than be immodest.

Then again in the sphere of religion, we find mass thinkers who follow the regular custom without question. When Christ was on earth multitudes renounced Him simply because they did not think for themselves. "Have any of the rulers believed?" was the question they frequently asked.

A More Lovely Thing

Most people think the jewel-like drops of a fountain beautiful, so could not this problem be solved by a simpler setting?

Is the outcry of the artistic coterie of Victoria so ultra modern? In the Victorian age, art critic Ruskin wrote "nothing is beautiful that is not useful." If realistic reproductions of animals are useful to Victoria as a tourist attraction, why not start yet another needed park featuring a collection of all the B.C. fauna, done in colors and as lifelike as the Tussaud Wax Works? Why complicate a fountain with what is artistically controversial?

These are times of desperate need, threat of war, famine in China, overcrowding of schools and hospitals, failure of the Red Feather to reach its objective, need of the Silver Threads Centre for a few clean and complete packs of cards. If part of the $45,000 met these needs, then would not our fountain rising from a simple basin of beautiful stone seem a more satisfying and a more lovely thing?

Guide to Behavior

Referring to your recent editorial, "An Ounce of Prevention," the point was made that teachers, in the course of their regular work, were in a position to identify certain traits among their students which required attention. This opinion has been expressed in many articles written about juvenile delinquency.

It is true that teachers are in a position to identify signs of pre-delinquency. But up to the present time they have not been made aware of the one tool they can use to determine the traits which indicate the beginning of the trouble.

Handwriting, something the teacher sees every day, is fast becoming a technique in diagnosing the character of every child. Handwriting provides the teacher with a graphic record of the child's individualistic development.

Having had 26 years experience in analyzing and studying handwriting, mouth-writing, and foot-writing, I feel qualified to state that the scribbles and painful attempts to write in the first grades, quite often give indications of a child's attempts to express himself.

Futuristic Fountains

We must forgive the mental lapse of these "Moderns," the "Cubists" and "3D Squares." After all, F. M. Rattenbury, the English architect who designed the Parliament Buildings, belonged to an illustrious age before these pseudo-Picassos were born.

The present designer of the new fountain does credit in keeping with the task and place. It is futile for these critics to argue that an expenditure of $45,000 is wrong when spent to this artistic purpose but right if they lavish it on lumps of nonsense indicating nothing in particular to the man-in-the-street. It is also meaningless to suggest that a consulting committee be called to "get the government off the hook" when, in fact, the job is in the hands of a staff designer who turns out to be an artist of the widest experience and the utmost competence.

The Government should "stick to its guns" and the city should be glad to accept.

WASHINGTON:

Chilling Thoughts

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WITH the President's return from Europe, an almost visible chill has spread through the Kennedy administration. The President himself came very close to using the word "chilling" to describe his meeting with Nikita S. Khrushchev; but then chose "sombre" as less open to misunderstanding. And this meeting, of course, is the source of the chill. Probably this should be taken as proof that the more intense sort of human experience, such as love and war and negotiating with the Soviets, can never be really understood until they are directly experienced.

Certainly the President was fully briefed on what Khrushchev would probably say about Berlin—the chilling topic. In fact, he had previously read just about every word that Khrushchev said at Vienna in the minutes of the Khrushchev-Eisenhower meeting at Camp David.

Apparently Undeterred

But hearing it laid on the line by Khrushchev in person was evidently something else again. Above all, it was evidently something else again to see Khrushchev apparently undeterred by Kennedy's cold, stern and precise exposition of all the reasons that would impel the Western Allies to fight for Berlin's freedom.

After all, Khrushchev had never heard quite this kind of language from any other Western leader except Gen. Charles de Gaulle. At Camp David, President Eisenhower was by no means infirm; but he was very far from precise, and he even allowed himself to describe the Western position at Berlin as "abnormal."

Thus it was reasonable to think that there was at least an off chance that stern precision, from the President of the United States himself, might produce a certain immediate effect.

No Effect

As is now well known, there was no discernible effect at all. Those present who should best be able to judge, are convinced that Khrushchev was much impressed by the President's character and personality. Yet Khrushchev's Berlin program was restated in writing, without any major changes, in one of the two memoranda he handed to Kennedy before they parted.

The plan to sign a peace treaty with the East Germans; the claim that Soviet rights will thus be automatically transferred to these odious puppets; the warning that the Soviets will fight if the Western Allies resist the East German exercise of these allegedly transferred rights, on the highways or elsewhere—all these familiar points were set forth.

Only the timing of the peace treaty was left relatively open. Khrushchev did not say at Vienna what he had said to the German ambassador in Moscow, Dr. Kroll, that he would wait until his Party Congress in October, but would sign the peace treaty soon thereafter.

Views Unaltered

Contrary to report, Kennedy did not respond to the Khrushchev memorandum with a paper of his own. Yet he made it quite clear that his own views and policies were quite unaltered. The later Soviet reaction to this stern precision is what matters most, of course.

Thus far, there have been two reactions. The Kremlin has sent a note of protest against a wholly imaginary Berlin meeting of the West German Parliament, which the West Germans have no intention of holding there. And the Soviet press has published a full text of Kennedy's home-coming report to the nation; as though to warn the Russians that their leader has a bit of a problem on his hands.

A more important first sign will be the major speech Khrushchev is now expected to make. But even if this speech is not ultra-violent, a desperate test of nerves and will is still expected at Berlin within the next 12 months.

The chill, then, is understandable. But it must be added that chill is very much more invigorating than a brand new "Spirit of Vienna," which is what the Soviets were quite plainly hoping for.

Things Happening

The last time round, when Khrushchev said the same things about Berlin at Camp David, nothing much happened beyond the empty diplomatic preparations for the summit that failed. This time things are beginning to happen, and these things are calculated to increase Khrushchev's Vienna-inspired doubts about his own openly announced past opinion that the West would never fight for Berlin's freedom.

To begin with, serious consideration is already being given to immediate, quiet reinforcement of the American divisions in Europe, and to intensified preparation for a future maximum airborne alert of the Strategic Air Command.

For another thing, the contingency planners for Berlin have been instructed to get down to brass tacks. More important still, consideration is also being given to seeking solid Franco-German-American agreement on a clear contingency plan.

The idea is to follow this agreement with tripartite approach to British Prime Minister Macmillan, with the hard question: "Are you with us, or do you mean to stand aside?"

The past American failure to respond to threats with military measures, the open British willingness to compromise at Berlin, and the constant British refusal to make hard commitments about Berlin's defence, were the natural sources of Khrushchev's opinion that the West would never fight.

The language he understands is now beginning to be talked. But it is a chilling moment, in the sense that the President wanted to give the word. (c) 1961, New York Herald Tribune Inc.

Pie in the Sky

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States may not reach the moon as soon as the Russians, but you can bet your last package of frozen sucrotash that our spacemen will eat better along the way.

Any doubts I may have had about America's ability to explore the heavens with well-fed Astronauts were removed recently as I watched a demonstration of the world's first "space kitchen."

Talk about our kitchen gadgets! This model galley for galaxy flights is equipped with everything but a built-in Betty Furness.

I suppose they would have installed Miss Furness to open the refrigerator door for the crew members except for a commercial complication.

The space kitchen was designed by the Whirlpool Corp. and Miss Furness works for Westinghouse.

But even without Betty, the kitchen gives us something the Russians presumably do not have. If I had charge of the Soviet space program, I would start worrying about the calorie gap.

At first glance, the kitchen looks like something you might find in a modern efficiency apartment. It has built-in cabinets, oven, refrigerator, freezer and garbage disposal.

The big difference is that the space kitchen had to be designed so that the English peas would not fall off the pantry shelf during blast-offs or float out of reach during weightlessness.

To lick this problem, the Whirlpool people did away with silverware and cooking utensils. They put all the food in cans and the beverages in plastic tubes.

At meal time, the weightless spaceman will drift into the kitchen, take a can of Swiss steak from the refrigerator and put it in the oven. If he starts to drift off, he can grab hold of a railing on the cabinets.

The can has a cap on the top and bottom. When the steak is hot, the Astronaut removes the caps and fastens a nipple to one end of the can. At the other end he attaches an expelling device.

Each time he presses the device, it forces a bite of steak through the nipple and into his mouth. Thus he avoids filling the kitchen with flying steak.

Beverages are consumed in much the same way. The Astronaut can have them either hot or cold.

When he has dined sufficiently, he sprays the empty cans with some stuff that retards bacteria growth and returns them to the cabinet. This helps to keep the spaceship tidy.

The kitchen will contain enough foods and beverages to last three crew members for 14 days. Veal, chicken, baked ham, bacon and filet of sole are among the possible entrees.

I assume it also would be possible to fill some of the tubes with martini squeezings so that the Astronauts could have a pre-dinner cocktail. However, they might have some trouble getting at the olive.

'Six Assembly Lines' Too Costly — Senator

WASHINGTON (CP) — The money?" Symington asked in the Senate.

He is a member of the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees.

However, Democratic sources in the Senate said Symington's complaint "won't change the Canada-United States agreement."

Symington said the United States is placing orders for production of Starfighters in Belgium, The Netherlands, West Germany and Italy.

Maintaining six production assembly lines in six countries would be costlier than concentrating all production in one country, he said.

Russian Influence Slipping

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet influence in the Mediterranean is undergoing a considerable setback, diplomatic observers here believe.

They point to the current propaganda battle being waged between Russia and the United Arab Republic and the apparent continued strain in relations between Moscow and Albania.

While Russia continues to maintain correct diplomatic relations with the U.A.R., a ranking resentment about repressions against Communists and the "slandering" of Russia by the U.A.R. propaganda apparatus has been evident for some time.

It flared up recently in an article in the official Communist party newspaper Pravda.

The Russian line is that the campaign against Communists in the U.A.R. and other Arab lands is the result of efforts by colonialists to counter the effects of Russia's "selfless" aid to support new nations.

HELP BUILD DAM

The Russians say they are providing "disinterested" help to the U.A.R. in the construction of the giant Aswan Dam and about 100 other enterprises.

The U.A.R. has protested lies and inaccuracies broadcast by Moscow Radio about the U.A.R.

The Soviet criticism of the U.A.R. for its handling of Communists also applies to the Iraqi regime of Gen. Abdul Karim Kassem.

Russia's growing rift with Albania may have cost the Soviet Union its only Mediterranean submarine bases, according to observers here. The circumstantial evidence for an Albanian-Russian break has been building up since Albania sided with China in the great debate between Moscow and Peking at the conference of world Communist parties last November.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

The Changing Face of London

LONDON — New tourist attraction is Hyde Park Corner. For visitors from overseas this is the last chance to see the world's busiest traffic intersection as it used to look.

But if you don't hurry you'll be too late. Already the central bottleneck has been sealed off from traffic, which has been diverted around the Corner on temporary flyovers and underpasses.

The middle part has been taken over by builders' huts, equipment and materials. Surrounding buildings, walls and gateways are coming down—including a corner already sliced off the Buckingham Palace grounds.

This apparent shambles will be transformed into what is described as "a large restful grassed island" dominated by the old Wellington Arch.

Traffic will speed smoothly (it's hoped) around this oasis on newly-designed wider roads and under it through an underpass by which traffic between Knightsbridge and Piccadilly will skip Hyde Park Corner altogether.

In another part of town the London County Council have plans to bring life to a site that has looked pretty bleak for many years.

It's what is termed the South Bank—a stretch of land on the south side of the Thames next to Waterloo Bridge.

It was envisioned in 1951 by being the focal point of the Festival of Britain. But only one of those exciting buildings was designed to be permanent—the Festival Hall, which now stands there alone.

The LCC scheme calls for the Festival Hall to have its facade extended by 30 feet each side, which would bring it to the edge of the Thames, and the entrance to be moved around to the riverside. This will put an end to the only complaint ever heard about this superb concert hall—that it looks a bit barn-like from outside.

And adjoining the Festival Hall will be a batch of new buildings.

There will be a 1,100-seat Small Hall, a sort of annex to the Festival Hall. An intimate Recital Hall will seat 400. There will be a 500-seat National Film Theatre, to replace the present one underneath the arches of Waterloo Bridge.

And the scheme will be filled out with a number of exhibition rooms and art galleries, to house such things as displays put on by the Arts Council.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Thinner Winners for Dinners

There are many gardens in the Victoria area which have what we call an early soil.

When the soil is a sandy loam, and the garden gets full sunshine the early vegetables are ready for use now.

The thinnings are usually the first produce—carrots the size of a pencil, beets which are all leaves, and lettuce having only a few leaves.

These delicacies cannot be bought in stores, yet they are full of minerals which contribute flavor and nutrition. Their food value is entirely different to that provided by more mature crops, and are highly suitable for lighter food requirements of warm weather.

By thinning now to only one-half the required distance between plants, thinning may be done again in about two weeks time. The vegetables will then be twice the size and useful as carrot sticks in picnic hampers, while many people prefer young beet greens raw in salads to having them cooked. The larger leaves should be carefully stripped from the stems and central veins.

There will be tender young peas and beans for eating raw in salads, or cooking for a few minutes in a minimum of boiling water. The French cook both of these vegetables when young in a little butter with a tightly closed lid on the pot to prevent the juices from escaping.

When it comes to fruits, the types should be fully ripened on the plants before picking. Only then is the full flavor enjoyed. Also, for full flavor, eat sun-warm, not chilled.

I know it is the fashion to chill summer fruits before serving, but I'm just old-fashioned enough to believe they repay the gardener's labor more fully if eaten while still warm from the sun.

Any gardener who would like to have the fun and experience of showing some of his flowers or vegetables at next week's Curling Rink show put on by the Victoria Horticultural Society, may get a catalogue and prize list from the society's secretary, Major G. Wiggan, at GR 7-3265. Entry forms must be returned to him by Wednesday next.

Cuban Education To Get Red Boost

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban Education Minister Armando Hart says that specialists from the Soviet Union, East Germany, Czechoslovakia and China soon will come to Cuba to raise the island's educational system to the standard of the socialist countries.

Twenty professors from Poland will come to Cuba in July to set up courses and organize technological institutes, Hart reported.

Power Protest To Dief

Provincial C.C.F. Leader Robert Strachan has appealed to Prime Minister Diefenbaker to use his influence in preventing the sale of Columbia River power to the United States.

Mr. Strachan made the plea in a letter written to the Prime Minister Friday.

The Opposition Leader said in a press release today:

"Because I feel that the whole power development situation in this province is rapidly approaching a stage where, if the federal government agrees, there could be a wholesale sellout of our greatest natural resource to provide guaranteed profits for private promoters, I sent the attached letter to the Prime Minister last Friday."

Mr. Strachan said in the letter the export of Columbia River power would deny Canadians cheap public power "simply to facilitate the sale of uneconomic Peace River power by a foreign-controlled private company."

NOT POLITICAL

The Opposition Leader said he did not regard the matter as a political question but as an economic one.

"Canada and the U.S. have signed a treaty for the development of the Columbia River but it has not been ratified because B.C. and the federal government are deadlocked on the financing of the $458,000,000 project."

Premier Bennett has said that he favors the sale of Columbia power to the U.S.

Mr. Strachan's letter said:

USE INFLUENCE

"I am appealing to you not as leader of the Conservative party but as Prime Minister of Canada, to use your influence to prevent the sale of the power derived from downstream benefits, to the United States."

"In support of my stand I would draw to your attention the remarks of Dr. A. E. Grauer of the B.C. Electric Company. In a recently published book, 'Canadian Issues,' he says:

"It would be sound public policy to keep the cheapest power for British Columbia's use and to stimulate development here rather than to export the least expensive power."

"Sale of this power to the U.S. will, of course, stimulate development there and not in British Columbia."

Schweitzer Improved

BRAZZAVILLE (AP) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer was reported improved Monday after falling ill last week at his jungle hospital at Lambarene in the Gabon Republic. Word reaching here by radio eased concern for the 86-year-old Nobel Peace Prize winner. There have been no details as to the nature of Schweitzer's illness, first reported Saturday.

Brannen School 'Meat-Grinder'

Lack of facilities in B.C. for treatment of psychotic children came under attack Tuesday by David E. Woodsworth, director of Victoria's Family and Children's Service. Mr. Woodsworth was addressing Victoria Kiwanis Club on "Disturbed Children."

He described as "a scandal" the fact there are children in adult wards at Essondale, sometimes even with senile people.

The provincial government's industrial school at Brannen Lake he termed "a meat-grinder."

Some disturbed boys are sent to the school through committing some delinquency but receive little or no treatment there, he said.

The Child Guidance Clinic visits the school once a month but cannot possibly deal with all the 180 boys there. As more boys are sent to the school, those who have been there longest are sent out, he said.

POWER NEEDED

"One thing badly needed is an increase in the size, power and personnel of the Child Guidance Clinic," Mr. Woodsworth said.

Its present staff comprises one psychiatrist, two psychologists and two social workers.

More out-patient clinics are also required, he said. At the moment there is only one—in

Salvation Army Brigadier Dead

TORONTO (CP) — Margaret Anderson Halsey, 53, brigadier of the Salvation Army and wife of Brig. Ivan Halsey, died of a heart attack here Sunday.

Born in Scotland, Brig. Halsey and her husband served at various stations in the west and returned to Ontario for service in Windsor in 1956.

She leaves her husband; two daughters, a brother and two sisters, Mrs. H. Hough of North Vancouver, and Mrs. D. Hunter, Port Alberni, B.C.

Beliefs Ground Plane

GORAKHPUR, India (Reuters) — Superstition has halted the only air service touching this city. Members of Gorakhpur's business community are averse to travelling east on Monday and west on Friday. As these were the days on which the air service operated, it had to be stopped because of the lack of passengers.

First white men to enter Ontario early in the 17th century were French explorers and missionaries.

WORLD DAY FOR CHILDREN CELEBRATED

Local schools today join province-wide celebration of World Children's Day.

More than 40 nations will observe the occasion, established by a United Nations' resolution in 1954.

The object is to promote friendship, knowledge and understanding among the world's children and promote efforts of UN organizations on their behalf.

The B.C. Education Department has sent to its school districts suggested programs and information on other nations which might be used in classes today.

Burnaby — and this deals mainly with adults.

FEW CASES

The Sevenoaks home for disturbed children in Victoria can accommodate only 16 cases and another home in Vancouver can handle a similar number.

"This means there is accommodation for only 32 cases for the whole province," said Mr. Woodsworth.

RECOGNITION

Having earlier said that the community at large is responsible to some degree for each individual's life, Mr. Woodsworth asked Kiwanians to consider the employment of disturbed people.

Employment, to them, is some sort of recognition, he said.

"If we don't accommodate them some will spend time in Haney or Oakalla and that costs anywhere from $6 to $20 a day," Mr. Woodsworth said.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere. Advt.

Hundreds of dozens of fragrant cut flowers will make a number of downtown hotels and motels the sweetest places in town this weekend as the city plays host to florists.

About 200 delegates from B.C., Washington and Oregon are expected to be here Saturday for Florist Telegraph Delivery Association, Unit 11-B, ninth annual convention.

Main meeting place, the Ingham Hotel, will have flowers banked high in the main lobby, piled in the banquet hall and stacked at a special "cor-sage bar."

Sunday evening a fashion show will be conducted with Vancouver florist Grace Mc-

Carthy commenting — again — featuring flowers.

Following that, the arrangements, used in the design school, by the eight Victoria FTD florists, will be auctioned.

The public is invited to both the fashion show and auction.

The entire Sunday program takes place at the Monterey Restaurant.

Convention hosts are Norma and Russ Fitzsimmons, of Island Florists, 755 Yates.

'He'd Stay and Fight It Out'

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — James Coyne, a quiet, almost shy man with a powerful sense of personal duty, has jumped feet first into one of the hottest political issues in years. Typical of the man is that it was he who bared the issue to the public in his bolt-out-of-the-blue statement Tuesday saying he had been asked by the government to resign as Bank of Canada governor and had refused.

A couple of years ago a colleague was asked whether, in a fundamental split between the government and central bank, Mr. Coyne would resign. Graham Towers, the previous governor of the bank, had said that would be the only solution.

"Not this man," said the colleague. "He'd stay and fight it out."

The 50-year-old governor—a lawyer by schooling and an economist by personal inclination—is a tall, retiring man described by some friends as a shy person.

But he hasn't hesitated to break with the tradition that the central bank governor should be silent and shun the limelight.

He has spoken out repeatedly on a subject on which he has long felt strongly—that Canadians should take an increasingly larger role in the development of their country, lessening Canada's dependence on foreign capital.

The Winnipeg-born governor, son of a retired justice of the Manitoba Appeal Court, began his career as a lawyer in Winnipeg after Oxford University studies on a Rhodes scholarship.

But after joining the Bank of Canada as a research economist in 1938 he rose rapidly until, at the age of 44, he became the country's top banker.

His career was interrupted only once, from 1942 to 1944, when he trained as an RCAF pilot in Canada only to find a surplus of pilots in 1944 and himself considered too old for overseas duty. He got a discharge and went back to the central bank.

A slender man with strong features, he was one of the capital's most eligible bachelors until 1957 when he married a widow with three children, to which a fourth has since been added.

A prolific reader, he also collects paintings—mostly by Canadian artists. He's a golfer, swimmer, dabbler in popular mechanics and a man active in community affairs. Until recently he was chairman of the board of governors of Carleton University here.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

Coyne, Pearson See Eye-to-Eye

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada has sided with Opposition Leader Pearson in the Liberal chieftain's running argument with Finance Minister Fleming over who is responsible for the central bank's monetary policies.

In a Commons financial debate in February, Mr. Pearson contended the government must accept the responsibility.

Mr. Fleming replied that Parliament, when establishing the bank in the 1930s, decided that monetary policy should be the responsibility of the Bank of Canada. In turn, he added, the bank is directly responsible to Parliament, not to the government.

At a press conference Tuesday night Mr. Coyne, who has refused a government request that he resign, said the government is responsible for Bank of Canada monetary policies.

The Liberals have made the issue of responsibility one of their major points of attack against the Progressive Conservative administration. They have consistently raised it in Parliament.

Mr. Pearson said the bank has "an immediate responsibility to the government and an ultimate responsibility to Parliament."

Mr. Fleming's rejoinder was: "I say that the responsibility owed by the Bank of Canada is to Parliament. It is not an ultimate responsibility. It is a direct responsibility."

Mr. Pearson said also: "The idea that such an agency as the Bank of Canada can report to Parliament through the minister without that minister taking final responsibility for its overall policy... is both inadmissible and unconstitutional."

"If the governor carries out the general policy in the monetary field without any indication of government disapproval, and as the government is responsible ultimately for monetary policy, I think the governor has a right, as we have, to assume that the government of the day is not opposed to the policy he has put forward."

Mr. Fleming said the crux of monetary policy is control of the money supply. Parliament had emphasized that the bank has the sole right in this matter; the government had no voice whatever in it.

Mr. Coyne said that Tuesday night Mr. Fleming had "flatly rejected" a suggestion by a director that he speak to Mr. Coyne, he left the board meeting and issued his statement.

When he returned to the board meeting, he said, a resolution asking for his resignation—prepared "some time" before the meeting—was presented by Bruce Hill of St. Catharines, Ont., the director on the bank's executive committee.

Mr. Coyne declined to name the director who opposed it and said one other director, whom he didn't identify, wasn't at the meeting. There is one vacancy on the 12-man appointed board—all appointed by the present government.

DIRECTORS

The CCF party issued a statement saying Mr. Coyne should be "defended from the vicious slanders of those who occupy the highest offices in the land."

It said Mr. Fleming was trying to make a scapegoat of Mr. Coyne "while hoping to take the credit for a very belated about-face on financial policy" now that an election is in the offing. The CCF said Mr. Fleming—not Mr. Coyne—should resign.

At his press conference Tuesday night, Mr. Coyne outlined developments at Quebec City in the last three days leading up to the board of directors' resolution Tuesday asking for his resignation.

He said that in private talks with directors, and at board meetings Monday and Tuesday, no reasons were advanced why he should resign.

He said directors telephoned Mr. Fleming several times, seeking a way of postponing the issue or getting further discussion. He said they told him the minister "indicated the government's mind was made up and nothing could change it."

Vancouver Firms Eye City As Centre for Warehouses

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Ever since the advent of the government ferries with their fast service between Victoria and the mainland, the Victoria business community generally seems to have held the conviction that the Victoria area was going to lose out in the servicing and warehousing industries.

This sort of thing, so the argument went, could be handled more efficiently and at less cost from Vancouver or even, some said, from Nanaimo with its more central Island location.

In the past six months there have been many rumors of such moves, only one of which has materialized.

Actually, the very reverse seems to be coming true.

In the past 10 days no less than four Vancouver firms have made enquiries about locating warehouses and sales depots in the Victoria area from which they would serve the whole Island sales territory.

The reasoning behind the enquiries is that Victoria with its relatively large and stable market provides a better base for operations than the rather sparse Nanaimo area; along with recognition of the fact that even the fast ferry run to the mainland does not provide the means of filling Island customers' orders as rapidly as would a warehouse in the Victoria area.

Naturally the names of the firms which are investigating Victoria locations cannot be

CHRYSLER

Proxy Fight To Change Management

PORTLAND (AP)—A stockholder announced Tuesday he was undertaking a proxy fight to bring about a change in management of the Chrysler Corp.

Jim Bacaloff, a Portland general contractor, said he had filed necessary forms with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington, D.C.

He said this "constitutes a formal challenge of the present management of Chrysler, and entitles me to certain privileges as a participant, including proxy solicitations."

"I have taken this action as a last resort, being ever mindful of the constant deterioration of Chrysler, and of the inability and/or unwillingness of the board of directors to act during the past year. All of my activities in relation to Chrysler Corp. have always been and will continue to be in the best interest of the company," he said in a prepared announcement.

Canadian Theatres Draw Fewer People

OTTAWA (UPI)—Admission prices went up, but crowds and revenues were down last year at Canada's motion picture theatres, the bureau of statistics said today.

The bureau said that reports from three-quarters of the country's theatres indicated that 108,395,117 Canadians went to the movies in 1960 and paid $66,232,378 to see them. In 1959 the figures were 118,633,400 admissions and $68,370,049 revenue.

The average admission price in 1960 was 61 cents. The previous year it was 58 cents.

disclosed, for competitive reasons, but the very fact that they are interested should be sufficient to cause a re-evaluation of the situation by business, civic and municipal officials.

Mining activity could be resumed in the Butte Lake area according to a report that Western Mines Ltd., plans to acquire and develop property there.

Western Mines has arranged underwriting of 171,500 treasury shares at 17½ cents, with parties acting through Davidson & Co. An additional $28,500 shares have been optioned at prices ranging from 17½ to 50 cents through to April, 1962.

Another company getting ready for activity of some sort is the former Red Hawk Gold Mines Ltd., which has changed its name to Mineral Mountain Mining Co. Ltd.

Red Hawk shareholders get one for 10 in the share exchange which brings the stock of Mineral Mountain down to 250,000 issued and total authorized 5,000,000.

The reorganization was effected, not without some dissent—it is understood, at a recent meeting in Vancouver.

It's rumored that a Toronto listing for Torwest Resources Ltd. has been cleared with the TSE and there may be an announcement within a couple of weeks. Company is negotiating with eastern mining interests for development capital.

Wingdam and Lightning

Creek Mining Co. Ltd. reports it is going ahead with pumping and chemical grouting at its main Melvin shaft in the Cariboo district. Water level was down more than 60 feet at last report with two submersible pumps operating around the clock.

Drilling crews are coring from the surface to provide information on which to base the grouting program which it is hoped will control the water-bearing silt, or "Cariboo slum," which has interfered with operations.

The company holds some 20 miles of placer gold leases and permits along Lightning Creek between Cottonwood and Stanley east of Quesnel.

Good indication of just how serious the grasshopper and cutworm outbreak is on the prairies comes in an announcement from Shell Oil which has its chemical plant at Ottawa working 24 hours a day to supply insecticides which are being airlifted to Saskatchewan by RCAF aircraft.

OKAYS DEAL

Barter deal under which Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada has traded Canadian lead for 10,000,000 bushels of surplus United States grain has the approval of the federal government. Agriculture Minister Hamilton told the Commons Tuesday. "From the government's standpoint this is a private business transaction concluded by a private Canadian firm... the government does not interfere in private business transactions," Mr. Hamilton said. Under the deal the grain will be sold through U.S. brokers with the money received going to CMS.

Grain Loading Authority Set Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — An authority that will co-ordinate and speed the movement of grain through British Columbia's four ports has been established.

W. A. Sankey said today the grain loading and berthing committee is intended to stop serious tie-ups that delayed ships for upwards of a month earlier this year.

The committee will assist the Canadian Wheat Board to expedite the movement of grain and seeds through Vancouver—the main port—New Westminster, Prince Rupert and Victoria.

It will become operative Sept. 1 after agents, ship owners and chartering groups have been informed of, its purpose.

The group will assign berths and will have authority to change berthing arrangements if a certain grade of wheat is not available. Ships will be berthed in order of their arrival except those on advertised schedules and those carrying grain that is less than 35 per cent of their entire cargo.

Ship owners and agents must agree to work overtime if ordered to by the committee or vacate a berth.

Serious tie-ups here have resulted from large sales of grain to Russia and Communist China.

AT SANDOWN

New Tote Board

By HAL MALONE
Sandown Park race track will have a new mutual "face" this year.

A portable, automatic tote board, a junior version of the board at Vancouver's Exhibition Park, will be installed for the 14-day meet running from Sept. 14 to Oct. 9.

The board should delight turf patrons for three reasons:

1. It will allow wagering up to the second the starting gate opens;
2. It will reflect correct odds on every horse every 90 seconds; and
3. It will result in quicker posting of mutual prices.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS

Merv Peters, associate steward of the B.C. Jockey Club, operators of Sandown, said the tote is one of many improvements which will be carried out at the Sidney track this year.

These include:

- Resurfacing the five-eighths track with all barged from Vancouver;
- Banking of both turns to keep horses from drifting out;
- More and improved rest room facilities;
- Increased stable accommodation to care for 300 horses.

In the planning stage but not certain are: a clubhouse; enlarging the track from five-eighths to three-quarters of a mile; new jockey room and racing steward's office; and improved grandstand facilities.

MACHINES DO WORK

Peters said the new tote consists of 36 machines. Twenty-four machines will handle straight, place and show bets of all denominations. Twelve machines will be equipped to dispense daily double, quinella or Exacto tickets.

The tote ends manual dispensing of tickets. Patrons simply hand their money to a seller, ask for their horse by number, and receive the ticket from a counter machine punched by the seller.

With the tote, tickets can be sold up to the minute the starting gates open. Previously betting stopped when the horses were an eighth of a mile from the gate.

The tote won't show the amount being wagered on each horse. But as money passes through the individual machines it will be recorded on a master calculator which will reflect the odds changes every 90 seconds.

NEW BARN

Peters said the British Columbia Jockey Club definitely will have 300 horses on the grounds this year. Changes in existing stable accommodation, plus new barns, will handle this record amount of horseflesh. In years past slightly more than 200 horses jam-packed every inch of space at Sandown.

Future improvements hinge on the mutual play, Peters said.

"The Jockey Club is confident," he added, "that with a third provincial government ferry in operation, Sandown will handle more and more patrons. With greater attendance and a subsequent increase in mutual play we intend to make corresponding improvements at Sandown."

Dempsey Nixes Top Boxing Post

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, this week knocked himself out as a candidate for United States boxing commissioner and nominated Judge Robert Cannon, of Milwaukee, for the post.

"I would not take the job if it was offered to me," Dempsey said. "I am too occupied with my own business."

Dempsey was one of many boxing figures who supported appointment of a federal boxing czar before a Senate committee which recently investigated gangsterism in the sport.

Everybody Has Rights To Ranger Farmhands

VANCOUVER—Jim Piggott, holder of the new Western Hockey League franchise in Los Angeles, and Art Chapman, coach of Vancouver Canucks, both say they have working agreements with New York Rangers.

Piggott said in a telephone interview from Montreal, where he is attending the National Hockey League meeting, that he has a working agreement dated May 23 giving him first call, after Springfield of the American League, to Ranger farm players.

Chapman, who announced an agreement with the Rangers last week, said Tuesday: "I'm not interested in what Mr. Piggott has to say. All I know is that the Rangers will supply Canucks with an entire team next season."

Piggott said: "I will get the players I need, don't worry. Trouble is that too many people, including in Vancouver, are making too many statements without knowing what is going on."

Meanwhile, in San Francisco, a tentative contract which would let a WHL team operate in San Francisco this winter has been approved by the Cow Palace board of directors. The contract now must be approved by Coleman E. Hall of Vancouver, who was granted the franchise for a San Francisco team earlier this year.

AUSSIE STAR VICTIM OF STARTLING UPSET

BECKENHAM, Eng. (AP)—Osamu Ishiguro of Japan defeated Neale Fraser of Australia, last year's Wimbledon champion, in a sensational tennis upset Tuesday night.

Ishiguro won 11-13, 6-3, 6-4 in the first round of the men's singles in the Kent championship.

In another upset, 18-year-old Bill Bond of La Jolla, Calif., who is ranked 38th in the United States, defeated Bob Hewitt, the No. 4 Australian, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

A GOOD PUFF GOES A LONG WAY

Most horses love a sugar cube but Soraya C is a three-year-old filly of somewhat unusual disposition. She loves to smoke a pipe. Owned by Calgary detective Frank Van Gastel, Soraya C actually produces creditable smoke rings by blowing through the pipe stem. Whether her avocation has much to do with her racing performance remains to be seen. If she runs as well as she smokes the pipe, you can be sure owner Van Gastel won't mind her tobacco bill. (CP Photo.)

Curling Club Plans Slowed

Victoria Curling Club members Tuesday found themselves ensnared in a tangle of motions, amendments to motions, amendments to amendments and finally adjourned without deciding to go ahead with plans for expanding facilities into a family-type club.

Adjournment followed confusion over a voting technicality. Directors decided at a late hour to lay the matter over to a next meeting which will be held "as soon as possible."

The club's financial statement showed an operating profit of $21,912 on gross receipts of $73,354. Net profit was $177.

New president by acclamation is Eric Bullock. He succeeds Gerry Walls.

First vice-president, also by acclamation, is George Lindsay. Norm Beattie won a two-man race for the second vice-presidency.

Six directors elected to the board were Ken Sturrock, Dick Pick, Dick Fisher and Steve Hayhurst, two years, and Frank Burden and Mary Beattie, one year.

Turnberry, Scotland (CP)—Defending champion Joe Carr of Ireland fought a seesaw battle with a little-known Scotsman before winning on the 21st hole today in the third round of the British Amateur golf tournament.

Carr, gunning for his fourth title, defeated Charley Green in the exciting match, one of 32 being played on the par-72 Troon links.

Green missed a 12-footer that would have given him victory on the 18th. The 19th and 20th holes—and then Carr hit a superb iron shot to eight feet from the pin on the 21st and putted the ball into the centre of the cup for the win. In other early matches today, Jimmy Walker, semi-finalist last year and one of the seeded players, defeated American veteran John Penrose, 4 and 3; Leslie Taylor of Scotland defeated Mike Korch, another American, 5 and 4; Charles Lawrie, non-playing captain of Britain's Walker Cup team, eliminated American Richard Davies 2 and 1.

RACING WILL MISS GREAT TRAINER

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—The death of plain Ben Jones left a void in racing today that the kings and commoners of the turf agreed could not be filled.

The "man-in-the-white-hat" who, in his colorful lifetime trained the winners of 1513 other races, died in a hospital Tuesday after his second heart attack in four days.

He was stricken last Saturday at his home on Calumet Farm, where he has been general manager of racing since his son, H. A. (Jimmy) Jones took over active direction of the stable in 1953.

Jones was born 86 years ago in Parnell, Mo., of which his father was the founder and banker. Ben was to have been a banker too, but after a brief stint at Colorado State College, decided that "banking and horse racing wouldn't mix, because people think all horse trainers are horse thieves."

Jones saddled his first winner at Fort Worth, Texas, in 1909. It was in 1932 that Kan-

Thanks to Trend, Open Takes On Greater Lustre

By HARRY GRAYSON
BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (NEA) — The trend toward the invitational tournament makes the United States Open championship greater and more distinctive.

Anybody can get in—the amateur with a handicap of 12 or better, the caddy master, the professional star of the tournament circuit, the business or professional man. All the player has to do is prove himself good enough to be on the firing line.

It is also true that anybody can be left out, as such renowned shotmakers as Ken Venturi, Claude Harmon, Al Balding and George Bayer found out in sectional qualifying rounds this trip. They failed to qualify, so are denied the right to compete for golf's biggest prize over famous Oakland Hills, 30 miles south of Detroit. The three-day affair starts Thursday.

A hard core of 20 pros and an amateur or two can prevail over the difficult, 6,907-yard Oakland Hills layout with its par of 35-35-70. Arnold Palmer is the defending champion and is the Latrobe, Pa., slasher going to live up to the tremendous promise he showed last year. Gary Player has been mighty close in the Open before. Can the little South African revert to his first three rounds in the Masters?

Tremendous Sentiment for Snead

There is tremendous sentiment for Sam Snead in his 21st bid and the incredible hillbilly is fresh from bagging three successive tournaments in three weeks and leading his sectional qualifiers. Jack Nicklaus, the big blond Ohio State undergraduate, posted the lowest 72-hole score ever recorded in the Open by a simon-pure. He was edged by the phenomenal Palmer by no more than two strokes. He has his heart set on four dream rounds.

Oakland Hills was so severe after being re-designed by Robert Trent Jones that it had to be tempered a bit, but the golf architect still considers the course the finest test of golf in the world.

The last two rounds on one day, a 36-hole windup, requires the winner to hold championship form throughout a long day.

Al Watrous, pro at Oakland Hills for more than 30 years, predicts that the winning score will be between 283 and 285.

The galleries will be huge. Millions will see the crux of the final round through TV.

As president John G. Clark of the U.S. Golf Association reminds, the Open is the great convention of golf people from throughout the country. For those who appreciate it, there is no sports show quite like it.

For all the commercial overtones which arise when money prizes are at stake, the Open is shot through with a sheer love of golf—from champion to caddy, chairman to messenger.

Another Tight Fit Pads Jokers' Margin

NANAIMO — Jokers are starting to put a little daylight between themselves and the rest of the Senior "B" Lacrosse League pack.

Dave Collett's goal—the only scoring shot in a 10-minute overtime—stretched Jokers' lead to four points following Tuesday's 10-9 triumph over Nanaimo Ramblers.

It was the second straight goal decision for Jokers over the Up-Island team.

Nanaimo plays Foul Bay Thursday in Memorial Arena. Whitey Wakelyn scored three times and Harry Connor twice Tuesday to spark Jokers. Brian Gray, Bob Jones, Al Hayton and Robin Barnes fired the others.

Bud Dumont and Mike Good each scored three for Nanaimo while Bob Shires, Joe Manzanni and Gord Lollar got one apiece.

Next game: Thursday, Nanaimo vs. Foul Bay, 7 p.m., Memorial Arena.

ONE OF VICTORIA'S GREAT AUTO FIRMS

"Maybe next time you'll think twice before you carelessly drop a trolling motor into the lake!"

APPROACH A WET green with a high ball close to pin.

Bad Weather

There's no use trying to tell a dedicated golfer that the best thing to do about rain is not to play in it.

Playing in rain, the main thing to worry about is keeping the club handles dry. It is also advisable to wipe club heads after each shot. It is difficult to grip a wet handle properly. Cotton gloves help. Wet the hands and gloves after putting them on. This gives the player a good grip.

Start every hole with a clean ball. Wipe off mud before putting. Use one club higher than you would ordinarily. Rain will retard the ball's flight and cause it to stop on landings. Approach a wet green with a high ball as close to the hole as you can put it. A low shot tends to skip across the green like a stone skimmed across water.

The best protection is an umbrella. Rain jackets are bulky and hamper the swing. Spiked shoes will help prevent the player from slipping. Some rubber-soled shoes become very slippery when wet.

There have been many injuries and deaths from lightning on golf courses. Don't get under a tree. Stay away from isolated buildings, wire fences, hilltops and open areas.

If you must take shelter in a thunder shower, dense woods and depressions are the safest places if you can't make your way to a big protected building.

'Just Asking' Officials Say Of Soccer Bid

Victoria soccer factions are beating the drums—again—for entry into the Pacific Coast Soccer League. "We're working on it," says Wally Milligan, but, interjects Ed Viggers, "there's nothing definite yet."

"So contrary to a report from Vancouver, Tuesday, Victoria has not yet applied for a PCSL berth. The locals have made serious inquiries, but no bid . . . as yet."

Tuesday's story from Vancouver reported "applications from Victoria and Seattle to join . . . were received at a meeting Monday night."

Re-entry of Victoria and acceptance of Seattle would give the league two new outlets and a possible eight teams. Vancouver Firefighters were accepted into the fold two weeks ago by the Mainland League.

Viggers, president of the Victoria and District Soccer

League, said he talked to PCSL officials last week during Birmingham City's visit here. The talks were unofficial but Viggers asked "for more particulars."

"I haven't heard anything since then."

Milligan, who coached Victoria United's entry in the PCSL a few years ago, said: "Victoria is ready for a Coast League team, but there are a few hurdles to clear. Among other things, we need a sponsor."

If the hurdles are overcome, the Victoria entry would be made up of an all-star team from the District League.

HEMMING'S NEXT

Bruce Shows 'Em Plan Has Merits

One of the pleasant promotional aspects of the Senior Amateur Baseball League program is a plan that allows teams to reach into minor ranks for players.

"We're going to give the young fellows a chance to play . . . for experience," said one official.

If Bruce McKenzie is an example of what's being developed in local minor baseball, then stand aside and avoid being trampled in the rush, because the senior managers should be convinced today the idea has merits.

McKenzie, 16-year-old pitcher who chalked up a no-hitter in Pony League competition earlier this year, started for Transport Workers in the Royal Athletic Park senior tussle Tuesday. He wasn't around at the finish, but still gained credit for Workers' 6-3 victory over Wakeman-Trimble.

Next youngster on the firing line in senior company will be George Hemming, 18-year-old Connie Mack hurler who has struck out 114 batters in seven games. Hemming, with a 7-0 record in the junior league, will start Thursday night for Naval Vets in a game against Douglas Hotel.

McKenzie allowed only two runs and six hits before Cliff Kilduff came on in the eighth inning.

Softballers Have a Captive Audience

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Poor attendance is one of the major problems facing teams in amateur sport. But one of the four teams in the New Westminster Major Men's Softball League has no such problem, and probably never will.

The Seals play only home games and they're watched by more fans over a season than the combined total of the other three.

They have what you might call a captive audience. The team is made up of prisoners of the British Columbia penitentiary located in the east end of this city.

Softball games "draw" about 400 of the institution's 700 inmates.

The 400 figure is not exceptionally high, but is more than double attendance at league games outside the prison grounds.

Some of the prisoners take in the games because they enjoy them. Others go because they can at least get some fresh air.

The Seals are perennial contenders for the league title, and should be. They practice seven days a week, before or after work.

There's never a shortage of players. Some of the better players from the Seals' many farm teams are always ready to replace players stepping down from the senior club or being released from prison. At one time or another, the Seals have had two or three players who had a fling at professional baseball.

The Seals are a serious bunch on the ball field but the other prisoners take great delight in exchanging witty remarks.

A ball is hit over the prison wall, or wire fence. Immediately the cry goes up, "I'll get it."

A Seals pitcher is experiencing a rough inning and the remark is heard, "Take you: time, you've got lots of it."

A close play at home invariably brings a yell of "Kill the umpire."

And while the Seals have the best following in the league, you can bet on one thing. The spectators would far rather be somewhere else.

Batsmen Salvage Draw for England

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—A hard-hitting innings of 180 by Ted Dexter and a century from Raman Subba Row, who made 112, steered England well clear of defeat in the first cricket test against Australia Tuesday.

The match ended in a draw with England 80 runs ahead and six second-innings wickets still standing. Final scores: England 195 and 401 for four; Australia 516 for nine declared.

England needed 215 more runs to avoid an innings defeat when it resumed Tuesday, but the pitch rolled out easily after Monday night's rain and the batsmen took advantage.

First, Subba Row and Dexter put on 109 for the second wicket and then Dexter formed another big partnership of 161 with Ken Barrington, who scored 48 not out.

Subba Row was out after batting four hours and hitting 14 fours. Dexter was dismissed nine minutes before the close when he was stumped off spinner Bobby Simpson.

His innings of 180 took five hours, 45 minutes and included 31 fours.

JFK's Health Causes Worry

WASHINGTON (CP) — Vice-President Lyndon Johnson may swing more to the political forefront to pinch-hit for President Kennedy whose ailing back has increased public concern over the president's health.

While the White House publicly maintains Kennedy is improving, there is some behind-the-scenes regret that he didn't remain in Florida for a longer period of rest.

A visitor who spoke to Kennedy after his return Monday from a three-day stay in Palm Beach, Fla., said the president appeared worried over the ailment. One informant said the illness will be reappraised if there is no recovery by the end of the week.

STATUE GROWS

There is no suggestion that Kennedy would require any prolonged period of hospital treatment or surgery, but a lengthy period of rest may become necessary. In that case the load of public appearances may be borne mainly by Johnson whose political stature is growing following his Far East tour last month.

Johnson, who lost out to Kennedy in the Democratic presidential nomination race last year, substituted for the president in a luncheon appearance before the conference of U.S. mayors Tuesday. There are indications Johnson will take over more of such assignments in the weeks to come.

While White House informants insist that Kennedy's ailment is not a recurrence of previous injuries that led to surgery in 1954 and the necessity of a long period of convalescence, they agree these injuries may have made him more susceptible to new ailments. He is reported to have strained his back while shoveling dirt during a tree-planting ceremony at Ottawa May 16.

U.S. Communists OK for Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court ruled Monday that the Communist party may be included in the list of organizations whose employees are covered by state unemployment insurance.

In a unanimous decision, the court reversed a New York state order.

The court said the federal Communist Control Act of 1954 does not require exclusion of the Communist party from New York's unemployment system. New York courts, the justice said, "unmistakably rested" their decision on a contrary premise and their holdings therefore had to be reversed.

SLAYER CONFESSES TO SECOND MURDER

HAILEYBURY, Ont. (CP) — Owen Mickey Feener confessed to the murder of a second woman before going to the gallows for the knife killing of Kay Cholor, Crown attorney George J. Black said today.

The 23-year-old Feener, hanged here early Tuesday, admitted killing Dolly Woods, 17-year-old Kirkland Lake waitress and told authorities where to find the body of the vanished girl.

Finger Points Way to Siberia

MOSCOW (AP) — New decrees permitting Siberian exile as punishment for black marketeers, embezzlers and others making a dishonest living have set off a rash of accusations pleasing to indignant Russians but shocking to Westerners accustomed to strict legal safeguards.

The decrees grant ordinary citizens authority to point a finger at their neighbors and send them packing on scanty evidence of crime.

Two recent decrees permit exile of two to five years in Siberia or elsewhere after a formal court conviction or a finding by a relatively informal peoples' tribunal.

In the peoples' tribunals the rules of evidence, so long treasured in the West as protection for defendants, are largely waived. Instead, rules of evidence apply that are uninhibited by Western standards.

Immediately after publication of the new decrees, the newspapers began printing letters from readers accusing their neighbors and others of defrauding the state.

To Westerners here, the new decrees represent a trend away from what they felt was progress toward a Soviet legal system providing some protection for the rights of the accused.

Westerners also interpret the new decrees as indicating that the Soviet Union has been obliged to recognize that crime continues here despite the theory that it will disappear under communism.

Guild Award To Nanaimo

The student newspaper "Jay Bee" of Nanaimo's John Barsby Junior High School has scored its first win in the Victoria Newspaper Guild's annual school newspaper contest.

The paper won the guild's perpetual trophy for the best junior entry, and Mount View High School's "Scribe" won the senior trophy for the third consecutive year.

Five judges connected with Victoria's daily newspapers reviewed the seven Vancouver Island entries Tuesday night.

Guild president L. M. Sallaway said the panel had difficulty in choosing between the three junior entries, which showed more interest generally than the four senior entries.

"Jay Bee" was bright, covered a wide range of student activities, literary and feature material, including a topical poll on the Chant report on education. The paper's editor is Mariela Johansen.

CLOSE BEHIND
Close behind and rating special mention were the Victoria papers, "Lansdowne Flyer," of Lansdowne Junior High, and "Centralian" of Central Junior High.

Both are previous winners of the shield and $50 cash prize. "Scribe" editor Arnold Peden was complimented for the good art work, attractive layout, interesting feature material, plenty of critical and inquiring letters to the editor, index, and capsule summaries of international events in the news.

TROPHY WON
His paper will be presented with $75 cash and the perpetual guild trophy.

Money must be used to improve the newspapers in future editions.

Some criticisms of other entries were unbalanced presentation, poor makeup, wordiness, lack of material and too many jokes. It was noted since names are withheld, also had committed other acts infringing the laws of the country, the agency said.

Tourists Expelled
BUDAPEST (Reuters)—Security authorities have expelled three Swiss tourists from Hungary for illegally photographing military and industrial installations, the Hungarian news agency MTI has announced. The tourists, whose names are withheld, also had committed other acts infringing the laws of the country, the agency said.

'Chaos' Hits N.Y. When Power Cut

NEW YORK (AP)—The second massive power failure in less than two years threw five square miles of midtown Manhattan into a 4½-hour chaos involving millions of people Tuesday. It was the hottest June 13 in the city's history.

From skyscraper peak to subway bottom—and in-between—residents of this always-cramped metropolis were snarled in the vivid example of electricity's value to modern man. No one was reported injured.

The power went out just as the mammoth office buildings began pouring their tens of thousands into the streets.

Riders were trapped in elevators for up to three hours. Passengers were stranded below ground in subways. Passengers emerged from both, shaken and dripping with perspiration.

"It was like a steam bath," said a patrolman coming out of a subway.

Broadway was a strange sight as the setting sun dropped across the Hudson River. Times Square's brilliance was blacked out for a time, many of its movie houses and theatres closed.

TRAFFIC SNARLED
Traffic lights were out throughout the area and thousands of motorists—accustomed to the bumper-to-bumper routine—found themselves hopelessly snarled face to face as well.

In hospitals, some patients were caught on operating tables. Emergency generators were thrown into use and disaster averted.

The temperature had reached 96 degrees at mid-afternoon—a record for the date and the highest in two years—and throughout the city air conditioners droned by the hundreds of thousands.

Power was restored at 9:27 p.m., an hour after sunset.

Minor U.S. Envoy Ousted by Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—A U.S. diplomat was put under house detention for three days in Stanleyville and then flown out of the Gizenga-ruled stronghold on the first available plane, it was disclosed here Monday.

The diplomat, U.S. Embassy second secretary Frank Carucci, had been declared "persona non grata" by the Stanleyville regime last April but returned a week ago on what he called a normal political officer's visit to an area where the U.S. has no diplomatic representation. The Stanleyville government said he had carried out subversive activities.

Duncan Revises Law On Double Parking

DUNCAN—Double parking by trucks and trailers is to be banned in the city.

Council Monday approved an amendment to bylaws which will prohibit such parking, and which will set up loading and unloading zones at eight downtown points.

The zones, two meter spaces in length, will be for the exclusive use of commercial vehicles of less than 26 feet in length between 9 and 11 a.m.

Ald. Hamish Hutter, who campaigned for the change, said he expected it will be unpopular in "certain quarters," but will eliminate one of the city's traffic problems.

G and S Group Names Officers

New president of Victoria branch, London Gilbert and Sullivan Society, for 1961-62 will be J. C. McCreesh. He was elected at the branch's annual meeting recently.

Elected with him were James Mead-Robins, vice-president; Jean Langton, secretary; Wendy Cox, treasurer; Ivan Howell, business director; June Shearer, library director; Frederick Cox, program; Jen Rougt, social, and Ronald Cooke, past-president.

Six-Hour Day for Schools Favored by Gulf Islands

GANGES—Trustees of Gulf Islands School District 64 have come out strongly in favor of the six-hour school day for senior grades as recommended by the Chant report.

J. M. Evans, principal of Salt Spring Elementary-Senior High School, had submitted a schedule calling for five and one-half teaching hours, but he was asked to reconsider and have a firm schedule ready for discussion at the next meeting of the board.

Original plans called for extension of the school day to 4 p.m., but Mr. Evans had a program arranged calling for the day to end at 3:45 p.m. He based his schedule on consultations with teachers and observations of students.

TIME NEEDED
Trustee G. S. Humphreys, claimed six hours of teaching are needed to avoid summer sessions, while Trustee James M. Campbell, Saturna-Island, said the Chant report recommends a six-hour day and that it should be followed.

POLIO VACCINATIONS COMPULSORY IN JAPAN

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japan has made polio vaccinations compulsory by law in an attempt to prevent a recurrence of last year's epidemic which killed 106 people and affected another 16,000. The action followed a scandal last year when the government refused to give priority to urgently-needed imports of vaccine. Imports were subjected to restrictions at a time when local production could not meet the increased demand needed to fight the epidemic.

Schoolgirl Pregnancies Increasing

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Commissioner W. Wycliffe Booth of the Salvation Army expressed alarm Monday at the increasing rate of pre-marital pregnancy among school girls, and the growing use by school children of narcotics.

"I'm appalled at the increase of drug consumption among our school children," said Commissioner Booth, territorial commander of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda, in an address to London Rotary Club.

AVERAGE UNDER 16

He said the average age in some Salvation Army homes for unmarried mothers is less than 16.

With increased pre-marital pregnancy, he said, there has been an increase in the incidence of venereal disease.

The commissioner said: "You'd be amazed at the callousness of some of the girls coming to our homes."

Many girls refuse to see their babies after they are born, he said.

Youth Survives 6,900-Volt Shock

VANCOUVER (CP) — Brian Campbell, 12, was taken to hospital with second and third-degree burns Tuesday night after surviving a 6,900-volt shock.

The boy shorted two high-voltage wires as he and a companion attempted to reach a robin's nest inside an electric substation.

In the most hostile incident so far of Stevenson's South American tour, about 30 demonstrators paraded through the streets of Santiago, chanting "Cuba si, Yanqui no." At the USIA office they shattered plate glass windows with long poles.

ONLY ONE ARRESTED

A policeman arrested one demonstrator, but the rest escaped, leaving behind a banner saying "go home Stevenson."

U.S. Embassy officials said the demonstrators were Communists.

Otherwise, Stevenson's reception was warm and friendly. Crowds of several hundred greeted him.

Stevenson planned to devote most of his time here to talks about next month's meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council at Punta del Este.

EXPERTS WORKING

Chilean President Jorge Alessandri already has endorsed the conference and has had his experts working on preliminary aspects for some time.

Stevenson, touring 10 South American countries in advance of the economic meeting, leaves early Thursday for Bolivia. He already has been in Venezuela, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil and Paraguay.

ALASKA MEETING TALKS TRANSPORT

Highways and ferries will be a major topic when Premier Bennett meets Alaska and Yukon officials at a conference in Juneau next week.

The second tri-government meeting on future north-western developments opens Tuesday in the Alaskan capital.

A 12-man B.C. delegation will include Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, Recreation and Transport Minister Earle Westwood, Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace, Deputy Highways Minister H. T. Miard and technical officials.

Mr. Gagliardi was in Juneau last week for a pre-conference meeting.

MONTE ROBERTS

This is the season of the year when I am a great hand at being a baseball fan.

As far as I can gather from my friends and colleagues, this is the season of the year when most sports fans do their very best to be a great hand at being a baseball fan.

If only, as the saying goes, because it is the only game in town.

You can't have football and hockey EVERY week in the year, can you (although it IS a pity.)

So, as a baseball fan, pro tem, I would like to extend my thanks to the kindly powers of TV for bringing so many baseball games into my home, thus enabling me to avoid going outside and getting contaminated by fresh air.

I especially enjoy the major league games which are broadcast up until the top half of the ninth inning with the score tied, one on, and two out.

At which time the broadcast is terminated because a minor league game in the area is about to begin, leaving the TV watchers to imagine minor-league fans in their thousands rushing madly to the ball park.

Yes, I enjoy the TV baseball games, and am very grateful they do not cost me anything to watch.

I am grateful to the television stations and the sponsors, and to the whole industry of electronics in general.

I am also grateful to the announcers who tell me what is happening on the screen right before my very eyes. I am, so very pleased when I am told the batter just swung and missed. It is reassuring to have the verdict of my eyesight confirmed.

I am also happy to hear that Joe Shmoe is a left-handed pitcher (they don't hardly call them portsideers any more), and that he has four sisters, five brothers, eight uncles, an aunt, and 18 mortgages back home in Kokomo.

It is especially pleasing to see one of the cameras focus back into the press box, to examine the peanut-eating techniques of the relief announcer (they have the platoon system in the booth as well as on the field.)

And I find it very thoughtful when the announcer tells me the batter hit a long fly ball foul into the right field stands (picture of children scrambling for ball) which might have been a home run but only goes for a long strike.

Goodness gracious, without this inside information I might have gotten the impression the batter beat out a bunt along the third base line.

Yes, I am indeed grateful for TV baseball, all aspects of it, but especially the announcers.

Except I wish they would shadupp already and let me watch the ball game.

THERE ARE A FEW in sight here, but generally speaking pickers are scarce on Saanich berry farms. Two reasons are given: a "flood" of ripe berries due to warm weather, and low pay, which farmers say is caused by high operation costs. Picture was taken at farm of L. E. Vanderney and G. C. Van Veen, East Saanich Road. Pickers in foreground are Ellen Zerebecker, Brian Fillman and Al Smart.

BOYS CALM ON WILD WAGON RIDE

Two young brothers had a wild ride but ended up none the worse for it Tuesday when the station wagon in which they were sitting ran backward down a hill.

The station wagon, left by their mother, Mrs. Pauline Beauchemin, 117 South Pender, apparently slipped its brakes, carrying Jimmy, 4, and Eddy, 2, down the hill and through a fence, ending up with its rear wheels hanging over a 15-foot drop.

The vehicle battered down about 25 feet of wire fence in front of 866 Heywood Avenue.

The youngsters remained calm inside the wagon until a wrecker arrived to pull the machine out.

Low Wages For Pickers Explained

Saanich growers said today rising operation and food production costs are the reasons why farms can't afford to pay higher wages to strawberry pickers.

"Costs of operating a berry farm in the past few years has increased beyond reason," said J. D. Holloway, 7068 East Saanich Road, operator of a berry farm. "We are in a difficult situation. We are paying the maximum wage we can afford."

He was replying to a National Employment Service office report Tuesday that "low remuneration" is the main reason why adult pickers are responding poorly to an appeal to work on berry farms.

FAST RIPENING

The appeal was made earlier this week in view of the speeded ripening of the strawberry crop.

The need for extra farm help is acute. Students who form the bulk of the farm help during the summer months, are not available for picking until schools close in two weeks.

Mr. Holloway, speaking on behalf of the average berry grower, explained that farmers are paying between 70 and 80 cents for empty crates used to pack the berries.

"Labor cost for cultivation during the off season is about $1.25 an hour," he said. "Then there are costs for pest control and fertilizer."

FOUR TONS

He said an acre of land in Saanich yielded about four tons of berries as compared with 15 or 16 tons an acre in California.

The greater yield per acre in California was due to a variety of strawberry which is only suited to the climate there.

"They can make a berry farm pay there because their farm units are larger and their plants yield more berries over a longer period—two or three months," he said.

"Apart from that," he said, "we produce a berry with a flavor. California berries have little or no flavor—as most people who have tasted them know."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Henry G. Giles, 2590 Esplanade, $15, pulling out from curb when unsafe.

Albert Henderson, 3084 Albany, $35 and restricted to driving for business purposes only for one month, careless driving.

George Barta, 1250 Pandora, $25 and right to obtain driver's licence suspended, no driver's licence and $15, following too closely.

Harold J. Matthews, 1447 St. David Street, $10, siren on manifold.

Robert Turnbull, 3843 Rowland Avenue, $35, no insurance and $15, inadequate muffler.

IWA Members To Get Report On Re-Entry

Union representatives discussing possible re-entry of the IWA to Victoria Labor Council had a "good meeting" Tuesday night.

Other than that, spokesmen were non-committal on results of the discussion, on which the labor council had earlier expressed hope that the 1,500-member Local 1-118 would rejoin VLC.

It is a matter upon which the union membership must decide, said VLC secretary A. W. Toone.

The IWA local will have a general meeting Sunday and an executive committee report on the talks likely will come before the next VLC meeting a week from today.

The IWA local disaffiliated because of weak leadership in implementing political policies set out by the B.C. Federation of Labor and Canadian Labor Congress.

A number of other local unions have dropped out of VLC within the past six months for various reasons, including disagreement with any form of political action.

The 200-member Shipyard and General Workers' Union, Local 9, dropped out for financial reasons and to conduct its own educational program.

However, a meeting of the membership Tuesday night decided the local likely would rejoin VLC when the time is appropriate to its own situation.

New Director Here to Head Welfare Body

The fortunes of Victoria's welfare services — still suffering from the effects of losing Community Chest executive secretary A. G. Gilmore and Community Welfare Council president Dr. E. N. Boettcher — have taken an upswing with the arrival of Jack Anguish, new executive director of the Community Welfare Council.

He arrived here this week from London, Ont., where for the past six years he has been executive director of the United Community Services.

Mr. Anguish will be the council's first full-time director — previously the work was carried out by a number of part-time officials.

ON LOAN

His job, he said, will be to help in planning the welfare services in the community and to co-ordinate the work of the various agencies in Community Chest.

He will also be "loaned" to the Chest's budget committee in an advisory capacity.

"From what I have seen of the basic welfare services in Victoria, they appear to be very good," he said.

Regarding the future, he said: "I think there is and always will be a need for the private agency, voluntarily financed, developed and controlled at the local level."

LOCAL NEEDS

"In a big country like ours, who knows more about the local needs than local people? But, of course, there is a place for state welfare services—some problems are so great they can only be met by state resources."

"I think we are going to have to do much more thinking about the role of public and privately financed agencies. There is room for partnership."

Mr. Anguish, 46, has been doing welfare work since 1945 when he left the RCAF after five years war service.

Brought up in Brantford, Ont., he obtained his B.A. degree from McMaster University and is a graduate in social work from University of Toronto.

KENT VS. EDGELOW

Parking Punches Traded

Chamber of Commerce president Aubrey Kent today accused Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow of "throwing a monkey wrench" into off-street parking plans by demanding a prior vote of merchants.

"That's ridiculous," retorted Ald. Edgelow. "He should check the facts before he blasts off like that."

Earlier, Victoria MLA and potential third-time mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith warned he would attempt to lead an MLAs' revolt against a government minister on the issue.

Mr. Smith criticized Municipal Affairs Minister Black's offer to sponsor legislation at the next session which would permit council to bypass a ratepayer vote in developing parking garages on a lease-purchase basis.

RESERVE FUND

Ald. Edgelow said he will recommend that city council start solving the parking problem by using its still-small parking revenue reserve fund to buy the two garage sites and use them for surface parking lots at present.

The sites, at Port and Langley and on View Street between Douglas and Blanshard, could be developed into multi-storey facilities "when we have the legal power to do it and a demonstrated demand for space by full use of the surface lots," he said.

Mr. Kent praised Mayor Percy Scourrah, who has not yet returned from a mayors' conference in the east, for "yeoman service in trying to solve the parking problem, and I am sure he had everything cleared for this lease-purchase project."

VOTE DELAY

"But Ald. Edgelow is going out of his way to make things difficult. I think he's throwing a monkey wrench into it because a vote would delay something that is absolutely vital as a start toward general improvement of the city."

"If the mayor has everything cleared, let's get on with it instead of delaying everything again by a district vote."

"If Ald. Edgelow doesn't like the plan he should vote against it quietly in council instead of putting impediments in its way," Mr. Kent concluded.

Stung, Ald. Edgelow shot back:

ABIDE BY LAWS

"Mr. Kent was on council long enough to know we are governed by provincial laws and have to abide by them. We can't gamble with the law or we would bring a lawsuit on the city."

He said council could not legally enter a lease-purchase agreement at present because amending legislation would be needed from the legislature first to permit the city to enter a 20-year lease.

"Whether Mr. Kent likes it or not, and it is frustrating to council because we want to get on with the job, the fact remains that we can't legally do anything until next spring."

"So having a vote, by merchants would not delay it, besides that's the democratic way of resolving an important issue."

GENERAL VOTE

Ald. Edgelow pointed out that a general vote by ratepayers had decisively defeated the View Street parking bylaw "and we're not going to build this through by refusing to face that reality."

Ald. Edgelow added that it was not learned until Tuesday that legal obstacles prevented the lease-purchase deal until spring "and I doubt that even the mayor was aware of that."

City council, at a special meeting Tuesday, tabled Mr. Black's offer, apparently in reply to a query from city manager C. C. Wyatt, for "clarification" by Mayor Scourrah and Mr. Wyatt.

LEASE-PURCHASE

Mr. Black's letter, referring to current hopes for developing two downtown garages on 20-year lease-purchase agreements, said:

"I can inform you that the government is prepared to advance legislation at the spring session of the legislature to enter into a hire-purchase agreement for the acquisition of off-street parking sites, with a lease agreement not exceeding 20 years, but without the assent of the electors."

Mr. Smith said he was "shocked to learn the minister has made this proposal to the city" after overwhelming defeat of the $1,000,000 View Street parking and mall bylaw.

OPPOSITION

He said any such proposed legislation in the spring would be opposed vigorously "by many members of the government as well as the opposition."

"This saddles Victoria's homeowners with a $2,500,000 deal ... it is unthinkable. It is an even greater burden than what was proposed last June."

Mr. Smith also called for an area vote by merchants to see if they are willing to underwrite the scheme.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ballotting on a recommended contract settlement for coast membership in the IWA has been completed at the local level, financial secretary Edwin Haw said Tuesday.

Results will be counted here then sent to Vancouver for tabulation with the rest of the 27,000 ballots, probably Saturday.

Working in their spare time, members of Victoria Y's Men's Club have constructed a wishing well in the front entrance to Craigflower Manor, historic Victoria showplace.

Visitors are invited to toss coins into the well which will be donated to Camp Thunderbird, the YMCA camp at Gliz Lake.

Several local firms contributed materials for construction of the well.

Winners of Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's weekly tournament Tuesday were as follows:

North-south: First, George Morgan and Leslie Stewart; second, Molly Collins and Dorothy McConnell; third, Ricki Nickells and Tony Marsil.

East-west: First, Joseph Lukas and Jack Patterson; second, Simon Marinker and Frank Artlett; third, George Marsden and Wilmet Browne Cave.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Why do bulls charge at a red cloth, or at the sight of red?

A. They don't. This popular myth probably arose because of the use of red capes in the Spanish art of bullfighting, but it has been proved beyond any doubt that all bulls are color-blind. Red is used in bullfights because it minimizes the sight of blood by disguising any bloodstains on the cape, and because the color blends in well with the pageantry.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Householders were advised today of a calendar salesman purporting to be canvassing in the Douglas-Dallas Road area on behalf of War Amps of Canada.

War Amps secretary W. E. Goodwin said no one is authorized to do this type of selling in Victoria or anywhere else.

Frank Mason, 18, of HMCS Skeena, was fined $20 in city police court this morning for being a minor in possession of liquor.

Evidence was that he had a bottle of rum in his hand on Douglas Street.

Nothing was apparently stolen from Wellburn's Low-Cost Market, 1058 Pandora, when the premises were broken into Tuesday night.

Police, checking at 1:15 a.m., found that a rear door into the storeroom had been forced.

Jack Trueman, a 17-year-old Grade II student at Victoria High School, has been awarded a $75 scholarship to a seven-week course at the University of British Columbia's summer school of theatre.

Jack, who has been doing stage lighting for productions of the Victoria Theatre Guild and St. Matthias Little Theatre Society, will be studying stagecraft.

Eric Edwards was elected chairman of Victoria chapter, Royal Canadian College of Organists, at the chapter's recent annual meeting.

Other officers are Gordon Britton, past chairman; Hugo Spilker, vice-chairman; J. Ingram Smith, secretary-treasurer; Miss Ann Van der Voort, membership; Richard Proudman, program and publicity; Mrs. H. Ashby and Mrs. P. Hewitt, social; D. Palmer, correspondent.

Coroner J. H. Moore has announced that there will be an inquiry, but no inquest, into the death of George McFarlane, whose body was found at Shoal Bay Monday.

The dead man, positively identified Tuesday, disappeared from a fishing boat off Brochies Ledge on April 27. A companion, Archie De Laronde, of the Brunswick Hotel, who also went overboard, has not been found.

Next meeting of Victoria Aquarium Society will be held in Norway House, Hillside Avenue, June 21 at 8:15 p.m. It will be preceded by a junior meeting at 7:30.

Plans for the Gordon Head campus will be outlined by Victoria University officials at a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Friday noon.

For this occasion the chamber will switch from its usual meeting place in the Empress Hotel to the Faculty Hut on the Gordon Head campus.

Sunset service set for 8:30 to night on the lawn of the Legislative Buildings has been cancelled.

It was announced previously that members of 2136 Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) Cadets would perform the flag-lowering ceremony.

Captain George Wilkinson, of Victoria, will be promoted to the rank of major and appointed Provost Marshal at United Nations Emergency Force Headquarters in the Middle East, in mid-July, army headquarters announced today.

An officer of the Canadian Provost Corps, Major Wilkinson is now employed at army headquarters in Ottawa.

Official Rat Protest Filed in SPCA Letter

Formal protests of diet experiments in city schools were received today by School District 61 from the SPCA, which charged cruelty to white rats used in the tests.

Two of the rats fed a poor diet in a controlled experiment at S. J. Willis Junior High School died recently before the demonstration was completed.

It is teaching the children cruelty to demonstrate health in this way, the SPCA alleges. Secretary-manager N. H. Stephens said he could see no education value in the tests, which have been conducted in schools for many years.

The society threatens legal action under the cruelty to animals section of the Criminal Code, and mentions a conviction for a similar offence in Vancouver several years ago.

STOP EXPERIMENTS

T. R. Hughes, B.C. director of the SPCA told Mr. Stephens he had been assured by the education department such experiments would stop.

Today, deputy minister of education Dr. J. F. K. English said he knew of no such assurance or any directive to school boards, "certainly not in recent years."

The department of health initiates the experiments as object lessons in nutrition, Dr. English said.

FINAL CHECK ON PLANS FOR $3,000,000 WING

Early Call for Hospital Tenders

Tenders for construction of the $3,000,000 new Royal Jubilee Hospital wing may be called this month.

Joseph Casey, chairman of the hospital's building committee, Tuesday announced provincial government examiners now are making final checks of some 200 pages of working drawings and 500 pages of specifications.

Hospital officials hope complete government approval will be made within 10 days to a month.

Tenders will be called as soon as the government flashes a green light and construction should be under way in September, Mr. Casey said.

Up to 200 men will be employed on the 18-month construction project.

REPLANNING

Mr. Casey and officials summarized numerous benefits accruing to the hospital by a delay in construction, following a public subscription in 1959, for replanning several aspects of the wing.

Improvements were reported last August in a special Times series.

Mr. Casey said the foremost benefit to the community from the replanning would be a bigger and more modern hospital.

The new wing will be five storeys high, one more than originally planned although it will still contain 195 new beds.

A completely new surgery, with 13 operating theatres and special ancillary services, will be included instead of renovation of the present small surgery.

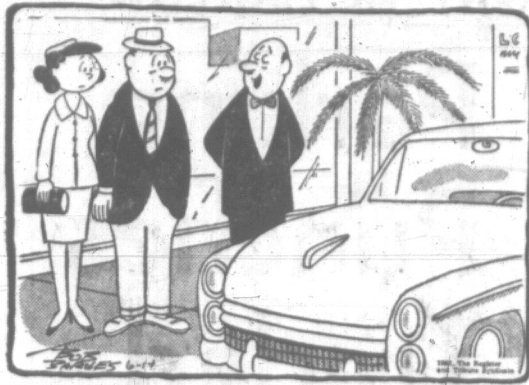

Administrative offices will be housed outside of the new wing but the cancer clinic, with the first cobalt bomb unit in the city, will be a part of the wing, instead of a separate structure.

Kitchen and laundry facilities were enlarged and improved to handle the extra load from the new wing.

Difficult rewiring of the entire hospital's electrical system, costing $75,000, and a $12,000 hot-water system project will be carried out in the next few months while the new wing is being built.

Among other advantages resulting from the delay, hospital authorities also placed: new and improved sterilizing equipment; new X-ray machines; new and improved oxygen service; new and improved facilities for surgical patients; and a new and improved nurses' call system.

"This year it's four inches wider and three payments longer."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Gardener's Kit for Dad Solves All Lawn Problems By PENNY SAVER

Now that summer is nearly here, and garden chairs are out, how are those green lawns of last year? Why not save dad on his day by buying him a dandy little robot gardener's kit I found this morning?

Kit comes complete with packaged cartridges of fertilizer, weed and crab grass killer, and insecticide, all in solid form. Cartridges fit into plastic bottle which screws between hose and sprinkler nozzle. Mixture comes out properly diluted, and lawns are watered, fertilized and weeded at the same blow. Three cartridges cover area of 250 square feet. Regular price of kit is $6.45, but store Penny visited sells them at $3.95.

Another gift for father, although its price tag suggests something by way of a "family investment," is portable transistor tape-recorder which runs on two flashlight batteries. Recorder is only 6 inches by 8 1/2, 2 1/2 inches deep. It will play 150 feet of tape, amounting to one hour's playing time, counting both sides. Machine is Japanese-made by a large firm which fully guarantees its product.

While $38.95 is hardly "penny saving," price in relation to other models is noteworthy. Tape costs $1.50 for 150 feet.

Another exciting bargain is electronic room deodorizer which hangs on wall and plugs in. Kitchen, bathroom and nursery can be filled with refreshing scents of spice, lavender, floral, cedar or medicated antiseptic. Best of all, this deodorizer does not look like a deodorizer. It comes in handsome gridded ivory plastic, about 4 inches high. Deodorizer, usually $3.95, is on sale now for $1.49. Refills are half price also, at 29c, and last several months.

In same store, large-sized willow wicker laundry baskets are selling at low, low price of $1.19.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Good Advice to Teen-Agers On How To Be Popular

It would be downright unnatural if a girl or a woman did not find the admiration of the opposite sex appealing. Masculine admiration is a healthy stuff for a woman from the age of 8 to 80.

Certainly teen-age is a period of life when being liked is extremely important to happiness. However, the very intensity of the desire to be popular may make a girl unpopular because it focuses her attention on herself. This makes her self-conscious. This, in turn, may result in either shyness or aggressiveness.

There is a new book called "Teenage Living." Its author is Nell Giles Ahern. It is written in a most interesting way. On the absorbing subject of dating Mrs. Ahern tips the girls off to some basic psychology involved in capturing a young man's heart. Her list of helpful hints includes the following recommendations:

"Be friendly but casual. Be yourself; behave naturally. Show that you are interested in him as a person, not just as a possible date."

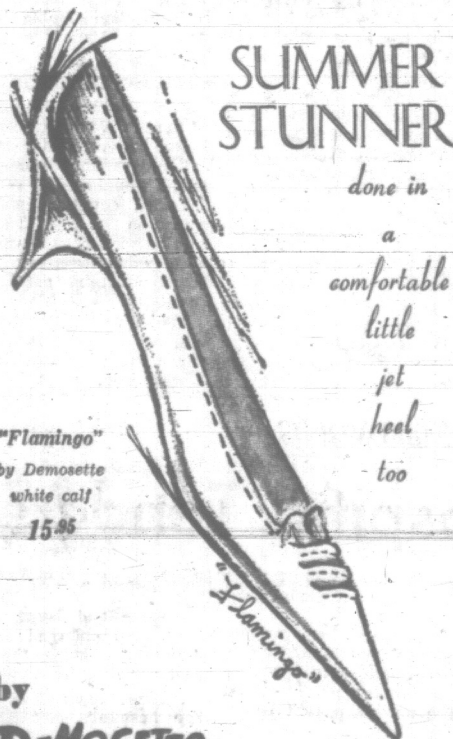

I always have felt that the most popular women are those who think of men as human beings they like rather than as possible dates or husbands. Mrs. Ahern also emphasizes the importance of good grooming. This list includes a daily shower or bath, a deodorant, shining, clean hair, a sparkling white smile and clean hands and nails. She says, "Beautiful skin is always clean skin. A beautiful complexion begins with soap and water."

This is especially true during teen years because the skin is oilier than usual. Unless you wash it several times a day blackheads are almost certain to follow.

If you would like to have my latest planned especially for teen-agers send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58, "Popularity." Address: Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY

Mum's the Word, Honey!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow. Until very recently I was dating a nice widower. He gave me a big rush and some lovely gifts. I was expecting him to propose and I really grew to like him. Then he told me he wouldn't think of marrying me until he was sure we were "compatible" in every way. You know what I mean. Naturally, when he found out I couldn't get what he wanted, he stopped seeing me. I felt so hurt to think he was like all the rest.

I had praised him to all my friends, and now that question is, what can I tell my friends when they ask why we aren't going together any more? HURT AND DISAPPOINTED

DEAR HURT: Real friends will not embarrass you with such a cruel question. To the others, simply reply, "All is fair in love and war, and this is a military secret."

DEAR ABBY: My little five-year-old boy is deathly afraid of dogs and cats. I can't understand how he got this way, but it is getting to be a terrible problem. He refuses to stay outside alone for fear a dog (even a small one) or a cat will come near him.

When I take him downtown and he sees a dog or cat, he screams so loud people run out of the stores and even stop their automobiles to see who is being murdered. I have to pick him up and carry him until the animal is out of sight. I didn't mind when he was smaller, but he is too heavy for me to carry now. What shall I do, Abby? He is driving me crazy.

UPSET MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: Take your son to a pet shop where he can see the new-born kittens and the tiny puppies. When he becomes more familiar with these animals, he will realize there is nothing to fear. He probably was terrified by an animal when he was very young, and must now be helped to overcome his fright.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 13, but am very mature for my age. I have been going with boys since I was 12, but my parents will not let me go out with boys in uniform. I think this is very unfair, and would like to have you tell them so in your column. Thank you.

MATURED 13 DEAR MATURED: You may be "mature" for your age, but in my opinion a 13-year-old girl is too young to be going with boys in or out of uniform.

DEAR ABBY: I am Spanish and the custom of my country is to wear the flower stems up and the flower "looking down" when the girl is single. That means she is "looking." When the girl is married, she wears her corsage stem down, with the flowers "looking up." ES VERDAD

Parties Herald Visiting Ship

The commanding officer of USS Scanner, Cmdr. B. A. Shaw, USNR, and officers of the United States ship now visiting Esquimalt and due to leave Thursday morning, were hosts at a buffet luncheon on the ship's mess deck on Saturday. Among the 35 guests attending were Commodore John Deane, Commodore H. Y. W. Groos, Col. R. F. Bruce, Air Commodore G. G. Truscott, Group Capt. A. F. Avant and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Wallace. Later that evening, a ship's company dance was held in the Fleet Club of HMCS Naden.

Several parties have been held honoring Cmdr. Shaw and Mrs. Shaw, who is visiting Victoria with their daughter, Maureen, while her husband's ship is here.

Mrs. W. R. Crozier, wife of Lt.-Cmdr. Crozier, United States naval exchange officer at the Naval Supply Depot, HMC Dockyard, was hostess at a coffee party in their Topp Avenue home in honor of Mrs. Shaw. There were 12 guests. Capt. Erik Revfem, RCN, and Mrs. Revfem were hosts at a dinner party in their home at HMC Dockyard in honor of the visitors. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Kai Foxen-Warm and Lt.-Cmdr. E. Cassels and Mrs. Cassels.

Today, Cmdr. Shaw and Mrs. Shaw were guests of Rear Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, RCN, and Mrs. Finch-Noyes at a luncheon in Admirals House. Mrs. Shaw and Maureen leave for their home in San Francisco this evening.

ROUND ABOUT

Airman Back To Renew Memories

By PAT DUFOUR

It took Lloyd Nadiger 15 years but he finally made it back to Victoria—this week.

Last here as a member of the RCAF, Lloyd plans to take a look at Pat Bay airport, his "old stomping grounds" before taking off for Vancouver and the long drive home to Wakaw, Sask., on Thursday.

Ever since he retired from the airforce, Lloyd promised himself that he'd be back, and this time he brought his wife, Dorothy, and their four-year-old son, Kenneth.

This is the first time that Dorothy and Kenneth have come to the west coast and the first "camping safari" for the Nadiger family. Their address while in town is "Goldstream Park."

As Dorothy explains, "Kenneth's high jinks are suited more to camping than life in motels and cabins!"

Lloyd readily admits that this trip is all part of a "brain washing" program, aimed at retirement here in the far-distant future. Teasingly, he adds, "Why else do you think I brought my wife?"

OVER COFFEE

We met over a final cup of coffee following their outdoor luncheon in Beacon Hill Park and Dorothy had nothing but praise for our present weather.

"It's a wonderful change after the average 97-degree temperature we've been having at home."

Still she has her doubts about retiring here. "I feel so hemmed in when I'm near mountains although I must admit it's not so bad here as when we were going through the Rockies."

The visitors are looking forward to visiting the Butchart Gardens which Lloyd remembers during his days in the service. Dorothy had added the "wax works museum" to their sight-seeing list while Kenneth is determined to take a peek at the totem poles in Thunderbird Park.

Although he has his fishing equipment along, it's doubtful with such a program whether Lloyd will have time to indulge in his favorite hobby.

A district operator for Saskatchewan Power Commission, he loves nothing better than to take time off to fish in his favorite lake, "north of Prince of Albert."

When I left them, the Nadigers had their maps out, tracing their way to Lang Street in Saanich.

They plan taking time out of this whirlwind visit to "look up" Dorothy's cousin and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hamilton. The Hamiltons came from Ontario two years ago.

Poet 'Sips' From Home Springs

By ANNE MAYHEW

"I need complete silence... I work odd hours... I have to live alone..." These are the stiff requirements of a serious poet whose sense of humor continually bubbles through a cool aura of svelte charm.

Phyllis Webb is home again for a refreshing sip from the native springs that have proved source of much of her poetry.

She speaks of the "tremendous effect of the sea and gardens of Victoria"; of the metaphysical poets who "turned on something in my mind"; of the mystic Yeats, who had "a great effect on my thinking." She speaks of her own poetry, "sometimes lyrical"; of her imagery, the sea, the garden, "the destructive and creative warring with each other..."

She speaks of her latest book, "The Sea Is Also a Garden": "There are some dark poems in it—it is a very dark book on the whole," and she nearly, not quite (that dark streak again) chuckles.

The poet that Victoria will be proud to claim looks back on the last ten years: Four at University of British Columbia, studying literature, economics. Then a year's post-graduate work at McGill University, where Louis Dudek helped publish her work along with two other poets in a volume called "Trio"... She recalls "a barren period of about two years."

"Even Your Right Eye" came out in 1956.

AWARD WINNER

A Canadian government overseas award took Phyllis Webb to France for a year and a half, but "I couldn't write much in France."

A return to the Canadian west coast brought the poet "back to the source of first impressions and original images." She has been writing steadily since.

Up to this point, working had meant no more than "bread and butter," but lecturing in first year English at University of British Columbia Phyllis Webb has found "very, very satisfying."

"It has brought my writing life closer to my economic life than before," she says. And what is her writing life?

HER LIFE

Helen Sonthoff will say something about that in an article for Canadian Literature this summer.

It will be called "The Structure of Loss." Phyllis Webb says it herself in a poem on St. Ives at night, where the palace seeps under water, and the water licks up the land. She says it herself in "A Garden at Pitti Palace," where "ripe heat falls down, persimmons burn... and Florence below explained in persimmon sun."

Old Enough

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—Thomas Chambers had always said he was "too young" to get married. Now 95, he married his housekeeper, Mrs. Elizabeth Polley, 65.

Miss Phyllis Webb, right, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Webb, at her Central Avenue home, will return to Vancouver on Thursday to lecture at UBC summer school. Her cousin, Miss Susan Knight, Seattle, is spending the summer with her aunt. She has just been awarded two scholarships toward a nursing course in St. Francis Cabrera Hospital, Seattle.

HIGH HEELS LEAVE HOLES IN LAWNS

OTTAWA (CP)—Aftermath of the annual garden party at Government House last Saturday is the pock-marked lawns of the spacious gardens left by high heels and the cigaret butts stamped into the ground.

Governor-General Vanier and Mme. Vanier welcomed 3,000 guests to the party.

Guests mingled and sipped tea and soft drinks to the background music of military bands. Saris added to the colorful spectacle of gay summer attire and top hats.

Cameras were much in evidence at the garden party, with Governor-General Vanier and Prime Minister Diefenbaker as the chief targets.

Couple Honeymoon in Hawaii

Honolulu was honeymoon spot chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald John-Isaac who were married recently in St. Mary's Anglican Church. The bride, Beverly Carol, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Frederick Graves of Victoria, and the groom, a son of Mrs. G. M. Isaac, Vancouver.

White chrysanthemums and snapdragons decorated the church for the evening ceremony. Canon H. Jones officiated.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of lustrous silk brocade, styled with basque bodice, sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves. Full skirt billowed from a dropped waistline. A silk illusion net veil edged in lace and beaded sequins misted from a dainty crown of orange blossoms. Red roses and feathered white carnations were in her colonial bouquet. Only jewelry was pearl and diamond necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom.

She was given in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Bea Wright, wore a blue silk princess-style brocade gown with matching blue hat. She carried pink roses and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Ann Liddell, bridesmatron, wore a similar gown of yellow silk brocade and carried white roses and blue chrysanthemums. Miss Barbara Geddes, bridesmaid, wore pink silk brocade.

Russell Isaac, brother of the groom, was best man, while Frederic Graves and Ronald Campion ushered. During signing of the register, Miss Darlene Bagshaw sang the Lord's Prayer.

Pink roses decorated bridal table at a reception in the Carlton Supper Club, where Chester Price proposed a toast.

To Help Those Who Cannot Help Themselves

Proceeds from the annual spring Ridotto, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service, and to be held Saturday afternoon at the Alcorn home, 2620 Lansdowne Road, will go to assist with furnishings and other necessities for the service's group foster homes, including the recently opened Seven Oaks home.

The auxiliary also provides layettes for babies placed for adoption; gifts and music lessons for foster children. Through auxiliary members, help is given to those who cannot help themselves and the human touch so important in welfare work, is maintained.

Teachers Deny Resistance to Census

By LESLIE MILLIN
School teachers in the upper income bracket are among those who are refusing to co-operate with census enumerators, according to area commissioner Jack Cox, although local teachers laugh at the idea.

"There are some people who are worked up to a fury against the census as an invasion of privacy," Mr. Cox said, adding:

"There is a sprinkling of teachers throughout the area who are unco-operative."

Those who refuse to answer census questions or to allow the enumerator into their homes are subject to heavy penalties if they are consistently unco-operative.

Teachers in the local high schools scoffed at the whole thing.

"It's ridiculous," said J. D. Lorimer, of Victoria High School.

"We use the results of the census in our grade 11 social studies course. There's no reason why teachers wouldn't co-operate with the census."

"Why single out the teachers, and not other groups which have members who won't co-operate?"

Mr. Lorimer suggested that teachers who are likely to be asked in class by pupils about the census may make detailed enquiry of enumerators about the reasons behind certain questions, and "perhaps the enumerators are taking genuine curiosity for lack of co-operation."

Other teachers contacted echoed Mr. Lorimer's views, although one conceded that teachers tend to be more cagey about answering questions than some other groups might be.

Householders who are "difficult" are not approached by enumerators indefinitely. The enumerator reports the matter to the area commissioner who contacts the recalcitrant by telephone to explain the reasons for the census, and usually he comes around.

Legal action can be taken, but it will only be used as a last resort.

Approximately 75 per cent of the enumerating has been completed, and should be over by this weekend except for some of the outlying areas.

"I want to stress how co-operative most of the public has been," said Mr. Cox.

"Many of those who are going away and have not yet been visited phone in to give us the information."

"People have just about overwhelmed our enumerators with hospitality," he added.

SOVIET PLANS ALL-ELECTRIC POWER SYSTEM

MOSCOW (AP) — The new president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, Mstislav Keldysh, declared Monday full electrification of the country is the No. 1 goal of Soviet science.

Keldysh spoke at the first all-union conference of Soviet scientists and technicians. The importance of the meeting was underlined by the fact that Premier Khrushchev attended.

Mass news agency said 2,000 scientists, representing "all the scientific institutions of the country," were present.

Keldysh said the electrification program was closely tied to the problem of finding new sources of power.

Young Adults Club Plans Weekend Trips

The Young Adult Club of the YM-YWCA has already made three weekend trips this year—to Portland, Glinz Lake and Saturna Island—and will travel to Parksville over the July 1 weekend.

The co-ed group of young people between 16 and 40 meets at the YMCA on Tuesdays and on weekends for a varied social and educational program.

Three other delegates from Victoria will be Mrs. A. H. Sheard, president of the YM-YWCA; Mrs. K. O. Wright, second vice-president, and Mrs. Lily Brooksbank.

Registrations are still being accepted for boys to attend one of the four sessions at the Camp "Thunderbird" in the Sooke Hills this summer. Details can be obtained at EV 5-8777.

Official 'Nose-Counters' Have Proper Identification

All householders should insist that census enumerators show their identification cards, local census authorities stressed after reports from Vancouver that commercial firms were sending out phony census takers and using the results to make up "sucker" lists.

All official enumerators are issued with credentials which they must produce, and citizens are under no obligation to answer anyone else.

There have been no reports of householders in Victoria being subjected to the same treatment by fake enumerators as they have in Vancouver, although a certain amount of confusion has arisen through enumerators visiting a home shortly after the representative of a firm on the mainland which makes city directories.

Air Jamboree Raises $1,100 For Sunset Fund

Jamboree night means everyone gets in on the act, and everyone did.

With a $1,000 target in mind, Fred Usher and his Hometowners along with Al Smith and Jack Lanaghan—broadcast music of every sort for three solid hours over radio station CIVIL on Tuesday night to raise money for the Salvation Army's Matson-Sunset Lodge building program.

Listeners were invited to phone in to the station with their pledges and also to make any requests for special musical numbers, and everyone in the studio worked to keep the listeners happy.

When the tumult and the shouting died, listeners had pledged a total of $1,100.

GALWAY BAY
Host announcer Walter Cownden parlayed the bids up to $100 to get Fred Usher of the Hometowners to sing Galway Bay before succumbing to audience telephone pressure to sing a number himself.

The Sunset Lodge Jamboree appeared in time normally devoted to the Times Concert Hour, and Times publisher Stuart Keate, a spectator in the studio, sang a duet with Fred Usher to comply with the request of a listener that he also perform.

TARGET REACHED
A battery of six telephones set up to handle the incoming calls reported little activity at first, speeding up to an incredible tangle of calls within the last few minutes as listeners rushed to make sure that the program target was reached.

Couriers from the totalling room told studio personnel that $1,000 had been achieved just as the hands of the studio clock indicated that the jamboree had officially ended.

By way of a celebration, the program ran five minutes overtime.

Damage Case Counter Claim Wins Award

Dr. E. L. McNiven of 2647 Satellite Street was awarded $1,473 damages in Victoria County Court Tuesday against James Quinn of 2885 Bermuda Place.

Dr. McNiven was awarded this sum for damage to his car received in a collision at Oak Bay Avenue and Foul Bay Road at 1:20 a.m. on Aug. 9 last.

Mr. Quinn brought an action against Dr. McNiven for damage to his car amounting to $855. Judge J. B. Clearhue dismissed this claim but allowed with costs the counter-claim of Dr. McNiven.

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident, but a number of police officers told of interviewing both drivers several minutes after the accident occurred.

Mr. Quinn said he was annoyed because the week previous his car was badly damaged by a "hit-and-run" driver and he had just had it repaired.

Rains Slow Fire, Pests

EDMONTON (CP) — Rain washed the prairie provinces Monday and Tuesday, rinsing away many problems of fire and pestilence which had plagued the area for the last three weeks.

Firefighters were being laid off in all districts of Alberta except Lac La Biche and all five mud bombing aircraft in use in the province were grounded.

The rain also brought relief to scorched and thirsty crops in Saskatchewan, lowering the hazard to them from infestations of grasshoppers and other insects.

The rain was expected to slow down hatching of the insects, which had been accelerated by the hot, dry weather and give insect control officers time to spray the most intensely affected areas.

Parking Ban Price Of Beautification

City council Tuesday agreed to wipe out parking on both sides of Douglas, between the Roundabout and Tolmie Avenue, in return for a $150,000 beautification project.

Decision on the parking ban was demanded by June 15 by the Capital Improvement District Commission, leading Ald. A. W. Toone to complain that the city was being faced with an ultimatum before it could fully assess the future effect of its action.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, among city representatives who met the CIDC, said the commission was "adamant" that parking be banned so that Douglas could be turned into a six-lane traffic artery before the money was spent.

Under the beautification scheme, tree-lined boulevards will be established on both sides of the street to improve the entrance to the city.

The CIDC also asked Saanich council to reverse its opposition to the parking ban from Tolmie to Saanich Road, council was told.

City engineer J. C. Garnett said he differed with the CIDC plan, contending that a centre-strip boulevard and only four traffic lanes, with turn-off provisions, would handle Douglas Street traffic better than six "uncontrolled" lanes.

Body Identified

The body of a young girl found near Whidbey Island last Friday has been identified by Washington police as that of Mary Martin, nine, of Concrete, a small community on the Skagit River, 30 miles northwest of Mount Vernon.

Police at Oak Harbor said the child disappeared while playing near her home last January.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Penny Clark, age 10, of Vancouver, B.C., for her question.

What is magnesium used for?

Penny enjoyed a thrilling TV program which told how magnesium metal is taken from sea water. But she did not discover why our brilliant chemists worked so hard to get it. This too is a thrilling story, for magnesium has found a thousand jobs to help improve our daily lives. However, we may not always recognize it and much of its work is done behind the scenes.

It is with you on a plane trip, a train, car and maybe a boat trip. It can take some of the muscle work out of household chores, repair work and garden jobs. It may be protecting your water pipes and hiding in your medicine cabinet. It can help make steel, nickel, ink and perfume. It adds razzle-dazzle to fireworks and even horses like it. The plant world could not exist without the magnesium in nature and your body needs a trace of it.

When you know its nature, you can guess why magnesium is so useful. In pure form, it is an element known as an alkaline-earth metal. It is hard and silvery white and only twice as heavy as water. A pot made of aluminum is three times as heavy and one made of iron more than four times as heavy as one made from magnesium.

Now you see why the wonderful metal is used to make luggage and ladders, wheelbarrows and watering cans, canoes and cameras, skis and catchers' masks. It makes them easier to lift and carry. Metal parts of magnesium make planes, trains and racing cars lighter, easier for engines to lift and pull.

Pure magnesium is hard and strong and in the air it forms a coat of chemicals which protects it from rust. It becomes even better when mixed or alloyed with certain other minerals.

Improves Other Metals

These alloy-forming minerals include manganese, iron, zinc, aluminum, thorium, lithium and zirconium. In turn, traces of magnesium are added to improve steel and other alloys.

Magnesium metal does not catch fire when forged and hammered but, when ground to powder or shaved into shavings, it ignites with a dazzling white flash. In this form it is used to make flares, flash bulbs and fireworks. Mixed with fire bricks of a steel mill, magnesium sucks out sulphur and phosphorus from the molten iron. It is used to take oxygen from nickel. Its alloys are used to protect storage tanks and pipelines from rust. Its alkaline quality becomes useful when magnesium is combined with water. This compound is milk of magnesia, helpful to tummyaches and acid stomachs. It may be present in your toothpaste. Behind the scenes, magnesium helps to make perfumes, medicines and printers' ink.

It was our clever chemists who figured out how to extract magnesium from sea water and it was they who coaxed it to do all its helpful chores. But the magnesium in nature has been vital to plants and animals since life began. One atom of magnesium is needed to make every molecule of chlorophyll, the green stuff plants use to make their food and provide us with oxygen. Even your body needs a trace of magnesium. It helps your teeth to grow enamel and dentine. It is also needed to give rest for a fraction of every second to your most important muscle — the heart itself.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Pam Bradley, age nine, of Bremen, Ga., for her question: What makes the wind blow?

The wind is no more than a big draft of moving air. It starts moving because it must obey certain rules of nature. In some ways it behaves like water. If you try to dig a hole in water, the water around flows in at once to fill it up. You cannot dig a hole in the air for the same reason. But every day, the sun warms patches of air here and there. This warm air expands and becomes thin. This patch of thin air is somewhat like the hole you tried to dig in the water.

The air around the patch of thin air is dense and heavier. It flows in to fill up the thin patch of air — and this flowing air is the wind. Most winds are blowing from vast masses of dense air towards vast masses of thinner air, often far, far away.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "We're Harbord men," comedians Wayne and Shuster, Jack Benny's summer TV replacements, have been bragging lately.

"Not Harvard," they explain. "Harbord—Harbord Collegiate High School, Toronto, Class of 1940."

Eddie Cantor once said that with the death of vaudeville, there's no place for young entertainers to be lousy in. Wayne and Shuster argue, however, that they can be lousy in high school as they were, or in college (University College, Toronto) as they were.

They point out that Rodgers and Hart started teaming in college, that Jose Ferrer, Joshua Logan, Henry Fonda, Burgess Meredith and others started in college.

"With the Mort Sahl and Shelley Berman going so intellectual," they said, "we feel very shabby not having Ph.D.'s."

"We may have a contest titled 'Can you tell the difference between Wayne and Shuster and why should you want to?' Why not hate them together? Why break up the set?" Wayne (or maybe it was Shuster) said.

"FREEDOM WRITERS" At that moment we heard a voice in the bar, "Paging Mr. Whitney."

"Mr. Whitney, Mr. Whitney," said Johnny Wayne, "your horse is calling you."

"For the first time we have writers—we're not doing our own writing. We call them our 'Freedom Writers'—they'll probably be at liberty."

They point out that Rodgers and Hart started teaming in college, that Jose Ferrer, Joshua Logan, Henry Fonda, Burgess Meredith and others started in college.

"We have 21 years of undeclared hostility between us," Wayne was saying the other day in 21— "or it may have been Shuster— it's hard to remember and they're of no help.

Clinton Ball Lasts All Night

CLINTON, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. George "Ma" Murray, of Lillooet, B.C., one of British Columbia's most colorful and best-known newspaper women—famous for a folksy, very-down-to-earth style—recently covered the 93rd annual all-night Clinton ball.

This, in part, was her story of the swinging Cariboo affair:

MADE WHOOPEE

"It was a potent brew that those old-timers set at Clinton 93 years ago when rugged miners quit the creeks for a week, collected their women, invited their friends, unbuckled their holsters and made whoopee for a change and a rest.

"The Clinton ball brew, of course, has been augmented with new ferment from time to time. Human nature runs pretty well true to form.

"MA" MURRAY—colorful description

"Clinton has long boasted the biggest hall north of the main main line. Nearly 700 men and women, young and old, paid the entry fee. For $2.50 each they got an eight-hour shift of steady terpsichore—a joyous hoedown from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.

"Built 40 years ago the hall will hold 400 couples like sardines, 350 can breathe and 300 can enjoy dancing. The floor was laid on thousands of rubber tires in 1921. It is worn out now. The new spike heels took a beating.

"But over 300 couples filled every number and the old floor swayed and swung under them, it creaked and groaned around them.

"The grand march was dispensed with. In olden times, this spectacle was dissolved into a graceful mazurka. We asked the orchestra leader if they could play one and he asked if it was the name of a boat we were thinking of.

TERRIFIC AT 4

"At 4 a.m. the ball was terrific.

"The stars faded away like stars do and 6 a.m. didn't come too soon.

"Over the Bonaparte Ridge, as it had done so many years in the past, the sun rose in its fullest glory and saw more than 500 happy, though weary people pour out to greet it. The echoes of the yippee y! y! again roared toward the east and we saw what we thought was a great improvement in the blending of all the peoples who contributed so much to the Cariboo."

Fire, War, Indian Raids Defied by Famed Mission

Times writer Norman Cribbens recently returned from a tour of the venerable province of Quebec. Here he tells of the oldest house in Canada.

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Birch bark canoes and sailing ships once passed the door of the Mission of St. Joseph de Sillery, looking over the wide St. Lawrence River.

Today the old house still stands four-square on the river's brink and is known as Canada's oldest dwelling.

This building has survived Indian raids, war—and a disastrous fire which destroyed the original wooden foundations in 1657. Evidence of the intense heat of the blaze is the blackened condition of some of the stone and the fiery pink colors of the mortar.

Native Stone

This old house was constructed of grey native stone. It has a high gabled roof, dormer windows, huge chimneys and walls three feet thick.

The interior is nicely proportioned, with deep windows, wide floor boards and crusted wooden panelling. Two of the four fireplaces are believed to have survived from the time the house was built in 1637 for the Jesuit Mission of St. Joseph de Sillery.

Walking through the deserted rooms you seem to hear the vibrant voices of monks singing mass, their sandaled feet padding over the grey stone floors.

Earliest Days

And this takes you back to the earliest days of Quebec City.

At the time of Champlain's death in 1635, Quebec was just a village, consisting of a few buildings on the river bank and a few houses on Cape Diamond and Cote Ste. Genevieve.

The Jesuit Order in Canada was headed by Father Paul Le Jeune. Fired with a zeal for saving souls, he decided to make friends with the Indians and learn their language.

Travelling on snowshoes and with a pack on his back, the intrepid priest spent the winter of 1633-34 sharing the hard life of the Algonquin Indians. He decided that the only way to settle the nomad Indians was by teaching them to till the soil and adopt some of the ways of western civilization.

He sought aid from Noel Brulart de Sillery, a gentleman of France, who gave part of his immense fortune to helping Paul Le Jeune convert the Indians to the Catholic faith.

40 Families

He sent Father Le Jeune the equivalent of about $10,000, and later a capital sum of $14,000 to found and maintain the mission.

Four years after the founding of the mission, about 40 families were established in Sillery and their influence spread rapidly. The Indians themselves carried Christianity northwest to the mouth of the Saguenay River and westward to the country of the Hurons around Georgian Bay.

Today the old mission house contains an interesting collection of antique furniture, lamps, clocks, guns and tools—and a weather vane that once decorated the roof of the old Jesuit College in Quebec.

More than that, it is the oldest known house in Canada and one of the most interesting.

BADLY BEATEN BY BALL BATS

MONTREAL (CP)—Restaurant owner Gerard Poissant was beaten unconscious with baseball bats Tuesday night in an apparent resumption of the protection racket, police said.

He suffered a fractured skull and multiple injuries.

Witnesses told police six men entered Poissant's restaurant, beat him, dragged him out into the street and kicked him repeatedly.

West Plans Meet On German Treaty

LONDON (AP)—The Western Allies are considering a foreign ministers' meeting later this summer to plan ways of countering Russia's expected challenge on Germany.

Freeway Ready

Next Spring

Completion of B.C.'s new freeway to the U.S. border at Blaine by May next was forecast Tuesday by Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

Mr. Gagliardi announced award of one of the three remaining contracts outstanding.

The $487,962 job of building 1.47 miles of divided four-lane highway between Oliver Road and Nicomekl Creek in Surrey goes to General Construction Co. of Vancouver.

Spring deadline for the entire freeway from the Deas Island Tunnel to Blaine was set because huge increase in U.S. tourist traffic is expected next year for the Seattle Century 21 Exposition, which opens in April.

Traffic on the Deas Island Thruway will branch off on to two freeways—one to the Vancouver Island ferry at Tsawwassen, the other to Blaine.

The border-bound freeway will parallel the existing King George Highway.

Seattle Times Features B.C.

A 24-page picture story supplement on the beauties of B.C. was published by a leading U.S. newspaper this month.

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood hailed the Seattle Times project as a terrific advertisement for tourism.

The supplement was published in last Sunday's edition of the paper and it was produced with co-operation from the B.C. government travel bureau and B.C. advertisers.

Called "Amazing B.C. Land of Travel and Opportunity," the supplement contains 19 color photographs as well as features on Vancouver Island, Vancouver, the Okanagan, the Cariboo, the province's industrial and hydro power potential.

Diplomatic officials, reporting this Tuesday night, said one of the main issues to be decided is whether the West should agree to join the Soviet Union in a new effort to negotiate a German peace treaty and a Berlin settlement.

RUSSIA WILL SIGN

Premier Khrushchev recently served notice on President Kennedy in Vienna that Russia intends signing a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany before the end of the year if prior East-West talks fail to solve the dispute.

The British foreign secretary, the Earl of Home, is due to discuss this and other questions in Washington today with State Secretary Dean Rusk.

The topics they will tackle include next steps to be taken in East-West negotiations for a ban on nuclear weapon tests. These exchanges in Geneva have been brought virtually to a halt because of a Russian proposal that they should be merged in wider disarmament negotiations.

DISCUSSED BY CABINET

All these problems were the subject of a British cabinet discussion here Tuesday. In general, the British position is that the Allies must be ready to meet with the Russians if the Berlin crisis reaches the point where danger of a military clash arises.

Senior American, British, French and West German officials in Washington already are working on revised plans to meet any emergencies that might arise if the Russians turn over their rights and powers in Berlin to the East Germans.

These plans will have to receive the consideration of the foreign ministers of the four powers and of the NATO council.

Papalia Arrested

TORONTO—Johnny Papalia, elusive defendant in the brass knuckles-iron pipe beating of Toronto gambler Max Bluestein, was arrested Tuesday on a street here after failing to turn up Monday for a court hearing.

14 VICTIMS OF WRECK UNIDENTIFIED

STUTTGART, West Germany (Reuters)—Rescue men worked feverishly today to prevent the wreckage of two electric trains from sliding into the nearby river Neckar after a head-on crash Tuesday night in which 32 persons were killed and 96 injured.

Many of the bodies recovered were badly mutilated. Hospital authorities initially could only identify 18 of them—chiefly by the season tickets they were carrying.

Officials said traffic on the line was running on a single track because of repair work on the other track.

WHY ARE INDIANS ACCIDENT PRONE?

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Indian health services section of the Department of Health and Welfare has set up a special committee to investigate an unusual proneness to accidents among B.C. Indians.

A spokesman for the service said statistics show it is four times as likely that an Indian will die accidentally than it is for anyone else. Accidents are the largest single killer among Indians.

Of 413 Indians who died in B.C. last year, 88 did so by accident.

Twenty-four died in traffic accidents, 17 by burning, 15 by drowning, five on railway tracks, five by alcohol poisoning, four by fatal falls, three in logging accidents and three from gunshot wounds, two by poisoning, two by asphyxiation and one from exposure.

The Indian Affairs Department, the B.C. Safety Council and the Native Brotherhood have been invited to send delegates to the special committee, which will study the reason for accident-proneness and means of combating it.

Fleming Bares Coyne Clash, Will Ask House to Fire Him

FLEMING PRESENTS BUDGET TUESDAY

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming announced today he will present his long-delayed budget next Tuesday evening, June 20.

The minister's announcement, ending weeks of waiting, was made while the House awaited a statement by him on the Coyne dispute.

There had been widespread speculation that the Coyne issue had been a factor in the delay in bringing down the budget—normally presented around the April 1 start of the fiscal year.

Open Hearing On Drug Prices

OTTAWA (CP)—Public hearings will be held under federal jurisdiction into prices of drugs and into the distribution and sale of automobile oils, greases and other accessories, Justice Minister Fulton announced today in the Commons.

The hearings will be held in connection with inquiries into the two matters under the Combines Investigation Act.

Mr. Fulton said the public hearing in connection with the manufacture, distribution and sale of pharmaceutical drugs in Canada will open here July 4.

He said the public hearing in connection with the distribution and sale of auto oils, greases, anti-freezes and the like will open here Sept. 11.

The restrictive trade practices commission said in connection with the drug inquiry that public hearings will be held in other cities with a final hearing in October, probably in Toronto.

The commission said in a statement that it had rejected representations that hearings not be held in public.

C. Rhodes Smith, chairman of the restrictive trade practices commission, said representations may be submitted by an interested party at the public hearings on drugs.

Forget Power Export Urges Liberal Chief

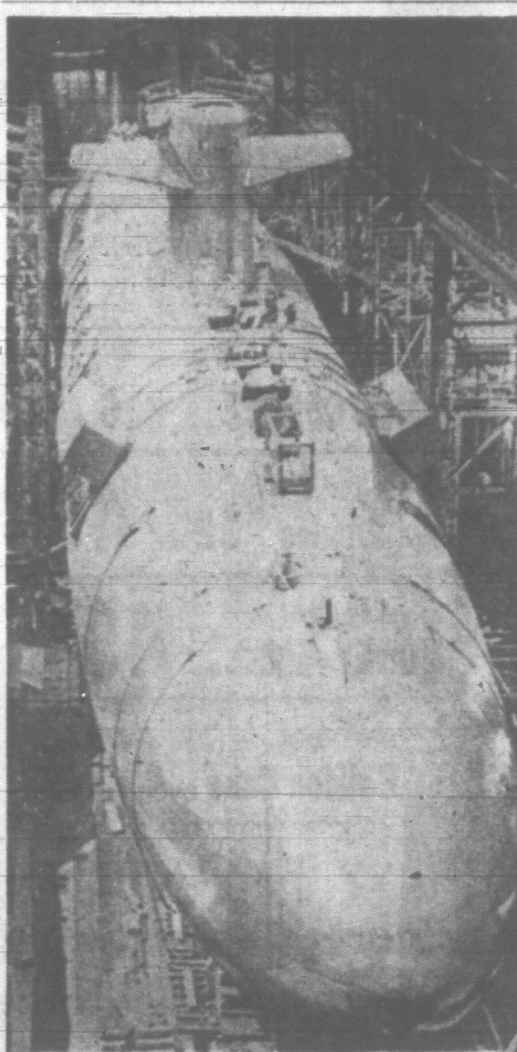

* VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia should forget about exporting hydro power to the United States and concentrate on the development of power-oriented industries at home, Liberal Leader Perrault said today.

"The premier's... talk about an eager and waiting re-export market is foolish and utterly irresponsible," said Mr. Perrault in a detailed statement on the party's position on power exports.

He added that Premier W. A. C. Bennett's Social Credit government's power policy is one of "deliberate confusion."

"We (the Liberals) can see no substantial market for export power in the northwest-ern states until at least 1970. My personal estimate now has been advanced... to at least 1975."

Bargaining Near For Laos Peace

GENEVA (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, who wants to become premier of a neutral Laos, told the Geneva Laotian conference today that if his country becomes completely independent it will never allow foreign troops or bases on its soil.

"We will proclaim our neutrality and our desire not to enter into any military alliances," he said.

Souvanna, 60, came to Geneva with his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Communist-backed Pathet Lao rebels. Souvanna calls himself a neutralist and is recognized by the Communists as Laos' legal premier.

The two are to meet Prince

Boun Oum, premier of the Western-supported royal Lao-tian government Saturday at Zurich.

The storm of East-West accusations at the 14-nation parlay has showed signs of abating. Long-delayed bargaining on rival peace plans may be near.

Western spokesmen indicated they are ready to call for the conference to break up into working groups to consider Soviet and Western proposals for unifying and neutralizing the southeast Asian kingdom and keeping it peaceful.

While the delegates debated, reports reaching U.S. officials in Geneva said the fighting continues in Laos, with the Communist Pathet Lao forces maintaining pressure in northern, central and southeastern Laos.

NO UNDUE REPRESSION

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (UPI)—The inter-American investigators sent here last week will return to Washington Wednesday "more or less satisfied" that there has been no undue repression as a result of the May 30 assassination of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, it was reported today.

Probe Bid Launched By Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Pearson said today a parliamentary committee should investigate policy differences between the government and Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada.

He criticized the government for its "heads-will-roll attitude" and said that if it continued, Canada would not be a free country long.

Mr. Pearson spoke for the Liberal Opposition in the Commons after Finance Minister Fleming announced the government would ask Parliament to act on his request that Mr. Coyne resign from the governorship of the bank—a request Mr. Coyne refused.

He criticized Mr. Fleming for saying today that there had been a steady and deplorable deterioration in relations between the government and the bank, saying that earlier the minister had insisted the government had no authority over bank policy.

BACK BENCHES NOISY

Conservative back-benchers protested with shouted interjections, but Prime Minister Diefenbaker looked back over them and shook his head. They became quieter.

H. W. Herridge, Kootenay West, giving the CCF view to the House, said Mr. Fleming has not been frank with the country or the Commons on the episode.

Mr. Herridge supported Liberal Leader Pearson's suggestion for committee study of the matter and "then the people will know who the real culprit is."

The facts were still missing after Mr. Fleming's "partial and phantasmagorical elucidation."

The government's primary concern in asking the removal of Governor Coyne was political and not economic. It had been politically embarrassed by Mr. Coyne's statements.

It had used as a smokescreen the relatively unimportant matter of pensions for directors and Mr. Coyne.

Mr. Pearson said that Mr. Fleming's case today was contradicted by statements he had made earlier in the session. He said Mr. Fleming's request for Mr. Coyne's resignation was an intervention in the affairs of the bank Mr. Fleming said earlier the government could not make.

Speaker Michener, who warned the House at the outset that speeches should be short and factual, without controversy, warned Mr. Pearson he should take only two more minutes.

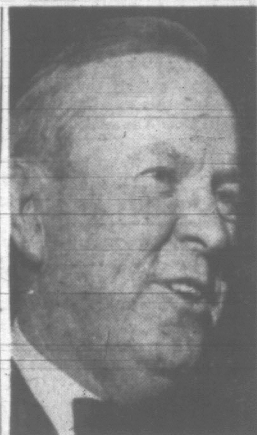

"Closure," shouted J. W. Pickersgill (L.—Bonaville-Twillingate) and a chorus of Liberal back-benchers.

Mr. Pearson said the government must have known that the bank's board of directors acted 16 months ago to raise Mr. Coyne's pension since Mr. Fleming's deputy—Kenneth Taylor—was a board member.

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Taylor did not attend the meeting because he had been called away by a death in his family.

Mr. Pearson maintained the government's explanation for its request for Mr. Coyne's resignation is a rationalization of the mess it got itself into through its own arrogance and arbitrariness.

Directors Ask Coyne To Resign

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor James E. Coyne, of the Bank of Canada, Tuesday night piled more fuel on the controversy over the federal government's request for his resignation.

The governor disclosed at a press conference—the central bank directors, by a vote of 9 to 1, at a Quebec City meeting Tuesday morning, had called for his resignation after unsuccessful appeals to Finance Minister Fleming to keep the issue open.

Mr. Coyne said the directors' resignation demand—the purpose of which was "to support the government"—was refused along with Mr. Fleming's request.

He told reporters the board lacks power to fire him—"it probably takes an act of Parliament."

He didn't indicate whether he thinks the government will take this step.

DIVULGED LETTERS

At his press conference Mr. Coyne took the unusual step of making public two letters he wrote June 9 to Mr. Fleming.

The letters, and the governor's comments to reporters, made these points:

1. Mr. Fleming told him May 30 that his public speeches "had turned out to be embarrassing to the government and were being used by their opponents in Parliament and elsewhere for political purposes."

2. He feels the government is responsible for central bank monetary policy—a point repeatedly disputed in the past by Mr. Fleming.

3. Mr. Fleming had told him that "some quarters in the cabinet" felt he should have vetoed the directors' decision in February, 1960, increasing his pension to a maximum $25,000 from $12,000.

Hints 'Expansion' Monetary Policy In New Budget

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming made clear in a Commons statement today that the government will move in Parliament to oust James E. Coyne, controversial Bank of Canada governor.

Minutes later, on a move by Opposition Leader Pearson, the House opened an emergency debate on the government's May 30 request—rejected Tuesday by Mr. Coyne—that he resign immediately.

This climaxed swift-moving developments in which Mr. Fleming announced he will present his long-delayed budget next Tuesday night and accused the central bank governor of frustrating the government's hope of "expansionist" action to boost the economy.

There was immediate speculation—which Mr. Fleming's statement did nothing to discourage—that the "expansionist" policies will be announced in the budget.

He wound up his statement with the announcement that the government shortly will take "appropriate legislative action to meet the needs of the situation."

ment's hopes of "expansionist" action to boost the economy.

"I now can inform the House that the government will shortly invite Parliament to take appropriate legislative action to meet the needs of the situation."

This action could only be a government move to seek his ouster.

Mr. Coyne disclosed Tuesday he had rejected a May 30 demand by the government that he resign and another similar request by his board of directors made at Quebec City Tuesday.

'Restrictive-Minded Governor'

Mr. Fleming said the main reason the government asked Mr. Coyne to resign was that it "was convinced that Mr. Coyne's continuation in office as governor of the Bank of Canada would stand in the way of the implementation of a comprehensive, sound and responsible economic program designed to raise the levels of employment and production in Canada."

It was the case of an expansion-minded government having to deal with a restrictive-minded governor.

"The government's policy is expansionist, aimed at the creation of more trade, more production and more jobs," Mr. Fleming said.

"The policies advocated by Mr. Coyne are restrictionist—restrictive of trade, restrictive of production and restrictive of jobs."

Mr. Fleming said he would not reply in detail to Mr. Coyne's statement Tuesday "or on its defiant and provocative character."

He said he would give the Commons "the essential facts, virtually none of which appear in that statement."

The central bank governor's statement accused the government of casting a "slander upon my own integrity" by attacking an increase in his retirement pension approved 16 months ago by the bank's directors.

He also said Mr. Fleming, in asking for his resignation, had suggested the government wanted him out of the way because of pending government programs "which were apparently thought to be of such character that I would oppose them."

"I cannot and will not resign quietly under such circumstances," said Mr. Coyne, whose seven-year appointment normally would expire next Dec. 31.

Mr. Fleming said that under Mr. Coyne there has been "a steady and deplorable deterioration" in the central bank's relations with the public.

The bank governor "by a course of ill-considered action" and a series of policy speeches on public issues outside the realm of central banking "often and openly incompatible with government policy" had embroiled the central bank in continuous controversy.

Galleries Packed to Hear Drama

Matters of highest importance, requiring the greatest teamwork ever between the government and the bank, were awaiting decision and action by the two. But it had become impossible to expect such co-operation as long as Mr. Coyne remained in office.

"It was perfectly plain to the government that whatever assurances Mr. Coyne might give of co-operation for the future, the public could have no confidence that Bank of Canada policy would support government policy, having in mind the frequent declarations by the governor which clearly run counter to the policies of the government."

Mr. Coyne has lost the confidence of both the bank's board of directors and of the government.

The Commons galleries, which can seat some 600 persons, were packed as Mr. Fleming read his statement to the House. Some spectators were standing and scores of others waited outside the doors hoping they might eventually squeeze in for part of the drama.

Mr. Fleming said that if Mr. Coyne had complied with the government's May 30 request for his resignation, the bank's directors at their Quebec City meeting Monday and Tuesday would have been able to take action on the resignation and "if so disposed" to name a successor with the cabinet's approval.

The minister had hoped to announce today that this course had been followed "and that the whole matter would have been handled with dignity and consideration."

"Mr. Coyne, however, has chosen to reject the request and to provoke a controversy."

The minister said he was informed that, at the board of directors' meeting, Mr. Coyne was made fully aware on Monday that the board would ask for his resignation if he didn't submit it.

He said that Tuesday morning, when it was clear the board was about to introduce a resolution asking his immediate resignation, Mr. Coyne left the meeting and issued his press statement disclosing the

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman Chet Hollifield of the House Senate atomic energy committee said today he has asked President Kennedy to resume underground nuclear testing and that he hopes Kennedy will order this "within a few weeks."

NEW EXCHANGE DEAL FOR REBEL LEADERS

Castro Wants Killer Freed

HAVANA (UPI)—The Castro government said today it would exchange the three captured leaders of last April's abortive invasion attempt only for a convicted child slayer, an imprisoned U.S. Communist leader and the head of Puerto Rico's Nationalist party.

That is the only basis on which the three invasion commanders will be freed, the government-controlled morning newspapers announced.

The announcement came as American farm experts were expected to start negotiations here on Premier Fidel Castro's proposed exchange of U.S. made tractors for the 1,200 captured invaders.

The leaders of the invasion were Manuel Artime, Jose San Roman, and Rafael Bolivar Fuentes.

The newspaper said Artime will be freed in exchange for Francisco (The Hook) Molina, pro-Castro Cuban now awaiting sentencing for killing a 9-year-old Venezuelan girl in a New York restaurant during a gunfight between pro and anti-Castro Cuban groups last September.

Bolivar Fuentes will be released in exchange for Henry Winston, 50-year-old Negro leader of the U.S. Communist party. Winston is in prison.

San Roman will be exchanged for Pedro Albizu Campos, aged and ailing leader of the anti-American Nationalist party in Puerto Rico who was convicted of trying to foment a revolution against U.S. authority several years ago.

The negotiators said they will leave Cuba Thursday whether or not they get an agreement and indications were they will not.

There's jist somethin' about fountain art an' monetary policy thet makes everybody an expert.

About this Mall plan—it sure is a mixed-up world when havin' a place where y' kin walk is an alarmin', ultra-modern idee.

Whut'll th' gov'mint do if Mister Coyne ain't th' on'y one in Canada who doesn't like its money policies?

Speaking at a dinner meeting of Manitoba construction men, Arthur G. Sullivan of Montreal said: "With all due respect, it would be a far better thing for all concerned if governmental engineering and public works departments stuck to their function of design and supervision and spent any additional funds available to them in improving these aspects of their operation."

He said the nation's program for roads, streets and bridges, costing about $900,000,000 a year, represents the largest outlay for any kind of construction paid for by the taxpayer.

Mr. Sullivan recommended comprehensive advance planning of road-building on not only the local and provincial but also the national level.

"Canada is the only country in the western world with out a national highways policy to co-ordinate the planning construction and financing of roads of national importance."

National Highways Policy Urged

WINNIPEG (CP) — The president of the Canadian Construction Association Tuesday urged Canadian governments to build roads, streets and bridges by competitive tendering rather than with their own forces.

Speaking at a dinner meeting of Manitoba construction men, Arthur G. Sullivan of Montreal said: "With all due respect, it would be a far better thing for all concerned if governmental engineering and public works departments stuck to their function of design and supervision and spent any additional funds available to them in improving these aspects of their operation."

POLIO VACCINATIONS COMPULSORY IN JAPAN

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japan has made polio vaccinations compulsory by law in an attempt to prevent a recurrence of last year's epidemic which killed 106 people and affected another 16,000.

The action followed a scandal last year when the government refused to give priority to urgently-needed imports of vaccine. Imports were subjected to restrictions at a time when local production could not meet the increased demand needed to fight the epidemic.

Adlai's Chili Visit Stirs Minor Protest

SANTIAGO (AP) — A handful of Chilean leftists smashed windows of the U.S. Information Agency Tuesday night, protesting the arrival of Adlai Stevenson as President Kennedy's special envoy.

Schoolgirl Pregnancies Increasing

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Commissioner W. Wycliffe Booth of the Salvation Army expressed alarm Monday at the increasing rate of pre-marital pregnancy among school girls, and the growing use by school children of narcotics.

"I'm appalled at the increase of drug consumption among our school children," said Commissioner Booth, territorial commander of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda, in an address to London Rotary Club.

AVERAGE UNDER 16

He said the average age in some Salvation Army homes for unmarried mothers is less than 16.

With increased pre-marital pregnancy, he said, there has been an increase in the incidence of venereal disease.

The commissioner said: "You'd be amazed at the callousness of some of the girls coming to our homes."

Many girls refuse to see their babies after they are born, he said.

Youth Survives 6,900-Volt Shock

VANCOUVER (CP) — Brian Campbell, 12, was taken to hospital with second and third-degree burns Tuesday night after surviving a 6,900-volt shock.

The boy shorted two high-voltage wires as he and a companion attempted to reach a robin's nest inside an electric substation.

ONLY ONE ARRESTED

A policeman arrested one demonstrator, but the rest escaped, leaving behind a banner saying "go home Stevenson."

U.S. Embassy officials said the demonstrators were Communists.

Otherwise, Stevenson's reception was warm and friendly. Crowds of several hundred greeted him.

EXPERTS WORKING

Chilean President Jorge Alessandri already has endorsed the conference and has had his experts working on preliminary aspects for some time.

Stevenson, touring 10 South American countries in advance of the economic meeting, leaves early Thursday for Bolivia. He already has been in Venezuela, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil and Paraguay.

ALASKA MEETING TALKS TRANSPORT

Highways and ferries will be a major topic when Premier Bennett meets Alaska and Yukon officials at a conference in Juneau next week.

The second tri-government meeting on future north-western developments opens Tuesday in the Alaskan capital.

A 12-man B.C. delegation will include Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, Recreation and Transport Minister Earle Westwood, Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace, Deputy Highways Minister H. T. Miard and technical officials.

Mr. Gagliardi was in Juneau last week for a pre-conference meeting.

MONTE ROBERTS

This is the season of the year when I am a great hand at being a baseball fan.

As far as I can gather from my friends and colleagues, this is the season of the year when most sports fans do their very best to be a great hand at being a baseball fan.

If only, as the saying goes, because it is the only game in town.

You can't have football and hockey EVERY week in the year, can you (although it is a pity.)

So, as a baseball fan, pro tem, I would like to extend my thanks to the kindly powers of TV for bringing so many baseball games into my home, thus enabling me to avoid going outside and getting contaminated by fresh air.

I especially enjoy the major league games which are broadcast up until the top half of the ninth inning with the score tied, one on, and two out.

At which time the broadcast is terminated because a minor league game in the area is about to begin, leaving the TV watchers to imagine minor league fans in their thousands rushing madly to the ball park.

Yes, I enjoy the TV baseball games, and am very grateful they do not cost me anything to watch.

I am grateful to the television stations and the sponsors, and to the whole industry of electronics in general.

I am also grateful to the announcers who tell me what is happening on the screen right there before my very eyes.

I am so, so very pleased when I am told the batter just swung and missed. It is reassuring to have the verdict of my eyesight confirmed.

I am also happy to hear that Joe Shmoe is a left-handed pitcher (they don't hardly call them portersiders any more), and that he has four sisters, five brothers, eight uncles, an aunt, and 18 mortgages back home in Kokomo.

It is especially pleasing to see one of the cameras focus back into the press box, to examine the peanut-eating techniques of the relief announcer (they have the platoon system in the booth as well as on the field.)

And I find it very thoughtful when the announcer tells me the batter hit a long fly ball into the right field stands (picture of children scrambling for ball) which might have been a home run but only goes for a long strike.

Goodness gracious, without this inside information I might have gotten the impression the batter beat out a bunt along the third base line.

Yes, I am indeed grateful for TV baseball, all aspects of it, but especially the announcers.

Except I wish they would shadupp already and let me watch the ball game.

THERE ARE A FEW in sight here, but generally speaking pickers are scarce on Saanich berry farms. Two reasons are given: a "flood" of ripe berries due to warm weather, and low pay, which farmers

BOYS CALM ON WILD WAGON RIDE

Two young brothers had a wild ride but ended up none the worse for it Tuesday when the station wagon in which they were sitting ran backward down a hill.

The station wagon, left by their mother, Mrs. Pauline Beauchemin, 117 South Pender, apparently slipped its brakes, carrying Jimmy, 4, and Eddy, 2, down the hill and through a fence, ending up with its rear wheels hanging over a 15-foot drop.

The vehicle battered down about 25 feet of wire fence in front of 866 Heywood Avenue.

The youngsters remained calm inside the wagon until a wrecker arrived to pull the machine out.

Low Wages For Pickers Explained

Saanich growers said today rising operation and food production costs are the reasons why farms can't afford to pay higher wages to strawberry pickers.

"Costs of operating a berry farm in the past few years has increased beyond reason," said J. D. Holloway, 7068 East Saanich Road, operator of a berry farm. "We are in a difficult situation. We are paying the maximum wage we can afford."

He was replying to a National Employment Service office report Tuesday that "low remuneration" is the main reason why adult pickers are responding poorly to an appeal to work on berry farms.

FAST RIPENING

The appeal was made earlier this week in view of the speeded ripening of the strawberry crop.

The need for extra farm help is acute. Students who form the bulk of the farm help during the summer months, are not available for picking until schools close in two weeks.

Mr. Holloway, speaking on behalf of the average berry grower, explained that farmers are paying between 70 and 80 cents for empty crates used to pack the berries.

"Labor cost for cultivation during the off season is about $1.25 an hour," he said. "Then there are costs for pest control and fertilizer."

FOUR TONS

He said an acre of land in Saanich yielded about four tons of berries as compared with 15 or 16 tons an acre in California.

The greater yield per acre in California was due to a variety of strawberry which is only suited to the climate there.

"They can make a berry farm pay there because their farm units are larger and their plants yield more berries over a longer period—two or three months," he said.

"Apart from that," he said, "we produce a berry with a flavor. California berries have little or no flavor—as most people who have tasted them know."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Henry G. Giles, 2590 Esplanade, $15, pulling out from curb when unsafe.

Albert Henderson, 3084 Albany, $35 and restricted to driving for business purposes only for one month, careless driving.

George Barta, 1250 Pandora, $25 and right to obtain driver's licence suspended, no driver's licence and $15, following too closely.

Harold J. Matthews, 1447 St. David Street, $10, siren on manifold.

Robert Turnbull, 3843 Rowland Avenue, $35, no insurance and $15, inadequate muffler.

New Director Here to Head Welfare Body

The fortunes of Victoria's welfare services — still suffering from the effects of losing Community Chest executive secretary A. G. Gilmore and Community Welfare Council president Dr. E. N. Boettcher — have taken an upswing with the arrival of Jack Anguish, new executive director of the Community Welfare Council.

He arrived here this week from London, Ont., where for the past six years he has been executive director of the United Community Services.

Mr. Anguish will be the council's first full-time director — previously the work was carried out by a number of part-time officials.

Union representatives discussing possible re-entry of the IWA to Victoria Labor Council had a "good meeting" Tuesday night.

Other than that, spokesmen were non-committal on results of the discussion, on which the labor council had earlier expressed hope that the 1,500-member Local 1-118 would rejoin VLC.

It is a matter upon which the union membership must decide, said VLC secretary A. W. Toone.

The IWA local will have a general meeting Sunday and an executive committee report on the talks likely will come before the next VLC meeting a week from today.

The IWA local disaffiliated because of weak leadership in implementing political policies set out by the B.C. Federation of Labor and Canadian Labor Congress.

A number of other local unions have dropped out of VLC within the past six months for various reasons, including disagreement with any form of political action.

The 200-member Shipyard and General Workers' Union, Local 9, dropped out for financial reasons and to conduct its own educational program.

However, a meeting of the membership Tuesday night decided the local likely would rejoin VLC when the time is appropriate to its own situation.

Mr. Anguish, 46, has been doing welfare work since 1945 when he left the RCAF after five years war service.

Brought up in Brantford, Ont., he obtained his B.A. degree from McMaster University and is a graduate in social work from University of Toronto.

Working drawings and 500 pages of specifications.

Hospital officials hope complete government approval will be made within 10 days to a month.

Tenders will be called as soon as the government flashes a green light and construction should be under way in September, Mr. Casey said.

Up to 200 men will be employed on the 18-month construction project.

REPLANNING

Mr. Casey and officials summarized numerous benefits accruing to the hospital by a delay in construction, following a public subscription in 1959 for replanning several aspects of the wing.

(A detailed outline of the

KENT VS. EDGELOW

Parking Punches Traded

Chamber of Commerce president Aubrey Kent today accused Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow of "throwing a monkey wrench" into off-street parking plans by demanding a prior vote of merchants.

"That's ridiculous," retorted Ald. Edgelow. "He should check the facts before he blasts off like that."

Earlier, Victoria MLA and potential third-time mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith warned he would attempt to lead an MLAs' revolt against a government minister on the issue.

Mr. Smith criticized Municipal Affairs Minister Black's offer to sponsor legislation at the next session which would permit council to bypass a ratepayer vote in developing parking garages on a lease-purchase basis.

RESERVE FUND

Ald. Edgelow said he will recommend that city council start solving the parking problem by using its still-small parking revenue reserve fund to buy the two garage sites and use them for surface parking lots at present.

The sites, at Fort and Langley and on View Street between Douglas and Blanshard, could be developed into multi-storey facilities "when we have the legal power to do it and a demonstrated demand for space by full use of the surface lots," he said.

Mr. Kent praised Mayor Percy Scurrell, who has not yet returned from a mayors' conference in the east, for "yeoman service in trying to solve the parking problem, and I am sure he had everything cleared for this lease-purchase project."

VOTE DELAY

"But Ald. Edgelow is going out of his way to make things difficult. I think he's throwing a monkey wrench into it because a vote would delay something that is absolutely vital as a start toward general improvement of the city."

"If the mayor has everything cleared, let's get on with it instead of delaying everything again by a district vote."

"If Ald. Edgelow doesn't like the plan he should vote against it quietly in council instead of putting impediments in its way," Mr. Kent concluded.

Stung, Ald. Edgelow shot back:

ABIDE BY LAWS

"Mr. Kent was on council long enough to know we are governed by provincial laws and have to abide by them. We can't gamble with the law or we would bring a lawsuit on the city."

He said council could not legally enter a lease-purchase agreement at present because amending legislation would be needed from the legislature first to permit the city to enter a 20-year lease.

"Whether Mr. Kent likes it or not, and it is frustrating to council because we want to get on with the job, the fact remains that we can't legally do anything until next spring."

"So having a vote by merchants would not delay it, besides that's the democratic way of resolving an important issue."

GENERAL VOTE

Ald. Edgelow pointed out that a general vote by ratepayers had decisively defeated the View Street parking bylaw "and we're not going to bull this through by refusing to face that reality."

Ald. Edgelow added that it was not learned until Tuesday that legal obstacles prevented the lease-purchase deal until spring "and I doubt that even the mayor was aware of that."

City council, at a special meeting Tuesday, tabled Mr. Black's offer, apparently in reply to a query from city manager C. C. Wyatt, for "clarification" by Mayor Scurrell and Mr. Wyatt.

LEASE-PURCHASE

Mr. Black's letter, referring to current hopes for developing two downtown garages on 20-year lease-purchase agreements, said:

"I can inform you that the government is prepared to advance legislation at the spring session of the legislature to enter into a hire-purchase agreement for the acquisition of off-street parking sites, with a lease agreement not exceeding 20 years, but without the assent of the electors."

Mr. Smith said he was "shocked to learn the minister has made this proposal to the city" after overwhelming defeat of the $1,000,000 View Street parking and mall bylaw.

OPPOSITION

He said any such proposed legislation in the spring would be opposed vigorously "by many members of the government as well as the opposition."

"This saddles Victoria's homeowners with a $2,500,000 deal... it is unthinkable. It is an even greater burden than what was proposed last June."

Mr. Smith also called for an area vote by merchants to see if they are willing to underwrite the scheme.

animals section of the Criminal Code, and mentions a conviction for a similar offence in Vancouver several years ago.

STOP EXPERIMENTS

T. R. Hughes, B.C. director of the SPCA told Mr. Stephens he had been assured by the education department such experiments would stop.

Today, deputy minister of education Dr. J. F. K. English said he knew of no such assurance or any directive to school boards, "certainly not in recent years."

The department of health initiates the experiments as object lessons in nutrition, Dr. English said.

Official Rat Protest Filed in SPCA Letter

Formal protests of diet experiments in city schools was received today by School District 61 from the SPCA, which charged cruelty to white rats used in the tests.

Two of the rats fed a poor diet in a controlled experiment at S. J. Willis Junior High School died recently before the demonstration was completed.

It is teaching the children cruelty to demonstrate health in this way, the SPCA alleges. Secretary-manager N. H. Stephens said he could see no education value in the tests, which have been conducted in schools for many years.

The society threatens legal action under the cruelty to improvements was reported last August in a special Times series.)

Mr. Casey said the foremost benefit to the community from the replanning would be a bigger and more modern hospital.

The new wing will be five storeys high, one more than originally planned although it will still contain 185 new beds.

NEW SURGERY

A completely new surgery, with 13 operating theatres and special ancillary services, will be included instead of renovation of the present small surgery.

Administrative offices will be housed outside of the new wing but the cancer clinic, with the first cobalt bomb unit in the city, will be a part of nurses' call system.

Among other advantages resulting from the delay, hospital authorities also placed: new and improved sterilizing equipment; new X-ray machines; new and improved oxygen service; new and improved facilities for surgical patients; and a new and improved

Kitchen and laundry facilities were enlarged and improved to handle the extra load from the new wing.

Difficult rewiring of the entire hospital's electrical system, costing $75,000, and a $12,000 hot-water system project will be carried out in the next few months while the new wing is being built.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ballotting on a recommended contract settlement for coast membership in the IWA has been completed at the local level, financial secretary Edwin Haw said Tuesday.

Results will be counted here then sent to Vancouver for tabulation with the rest of the 27,000 ballots, probably Saturday.

Working in their spare time, members of Victoria Y's Men's Club have constructed a wishing well in the front entrance to Craigflower Manor, historic Victoria showplace.

Visitors are invited to toss coins into the well which will be donated to Camp Thunderbird, the YMCA camp at Gliz Lake.

Several local firms contributed materials for construction of the well.

Winners of Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's weekly tournament Tuesday were as follows:

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Why do bulls charge at a red cloth, or at the sight of red?

A. They don't. This popular myth probably arose because of the use of red capes in the Spanish art of bullfighting, but it has been proved beyond any doubt that all bulls are color-blind. Red is used in bullfights because it minimizes the sight of blood by disguising any bloodstains on the cape, and because the color blends in well with the pageantry.

Anybody wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

War Amps secretary W. E. Goodwin said no one is authorized to do this type of selling, in Victoria or anywhere else.

Police, checking at 1.15 a.m., found that a rear door into the storeroom had been forced.

Jack Trueman, a 17-year-old Grade II student at Victoria High School, has been awarded a $75 scholarship to a seven-week course at the University of British Columbia's summer school of theatre.

Jack, who has been doing stage lighting for productions of the Victoria Theatre Guild and St. Matthias Little Theatre Society, will be studying stagecraft.

Coroner J. H. Moore has announced that there will be an inquiry, but no inquest, into the death of George McFarlane, whose body was found at Shoal Bay Monday.

The dead man, positively identified Tuesday, disappeared from a fishing boat off Brodie Ledge on April 27. A companion, Archie De Laronde, of the Brunswick Hotel, who also went overboard, has not been found.

Next meeting of Victoria Aquarium Society will be held in Norway House, Hillside Avenue, June 21 at 8.15 p.m. It will be preceded by a junior meeting at 7.30.

Plans for the Gordon Head campus will be outlined by Victoria University officials at a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Friday noon.

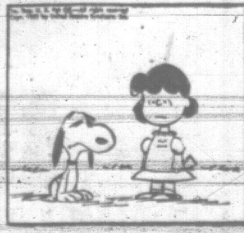

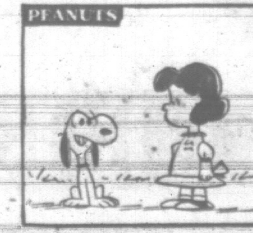

"For this occasion the chamber will switch from its usual meeting place in the Empress Hotel to the Faculty Hut on the Gordon Head campus."

Sunset service set for 8.30 to night on the lawns of the Legislative Buildings has been cancelled.

It was announced previously that members of 2136 Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) Cadets would perform the flag-lowering ceremony.

Captain George Wilkinson, of Victoria, will be promoted to the rank of major and appointed Provost Marshal at United Nations Emergency Force Headquarters in the Middle East, in mid-July, army headquarters announced today.

An officer of the Canadian Provost Corps, Major Wilkinson is now employed at army headquarters in Ottawa.

Another MacPowell Official Quits

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 20th former official of the Powell River Co. has resigned from MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Co.

H. John Burns, director of management services and formerly comptroller of Powell River, leaves at the end of the month to take a position with Imperial Investment Corp.

He was not available today for comment on his resignation.

Yanks Get Daley From Kansas City

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees today acquired southpaw Bud Daley from Kansas City in a trade that sent right-hander Art Ditmar and utility infielder Deron Johnson to the Athletics.

It was the Yankees' second trade of the day. Earlier, they had sent Danny McDevitt, a left-handed relief pitcher, to Minnesota for veteran infielder Billy Gardner. Daley, 28, was the mainstay of the A's pitching staff last year but this year his record has fallen to a 4-8 mark.

Schloredt In at Defensive Half?

SEATTLE (AP)—All-America quarterback Bob Schloredt may find himself in a new role when B.C. Lions meet Saskatchewan Roughriders here July 29 in a Western Football Conference exhibition game.

Greater Seattle, Inc., sponsor of the pro football game, said today B.C. coach Wayne Robinson plans to use Schloredt as defensive halfback.

Robinson was quoted as saying "it's practically impossible for a college quarterback, no matter how good he is, to break right into pro ball. Schloredt has the makings of a very fine defensive halfback."

HORYATH TO CHICAGO

Name Players In Ice Draft

MONTREAL (CP)—National Hockey League clubs picked up eight players in the intra-league draft today, five of them regulars with teams last season.

Chicago Black Hawks picked up centre Bronco Horvath and defenceman Autry Erickson from Boston Bruins and lost defenceman Al Arbor to Toronto Maple Leafs and defencive centre Earl Balfour to Boston. New York Rangers got Jean-Guy Gendron from Montreal Canadiens.

Boston took rookie Pat Stapleton, on Chicago's protected list, a defenceman last season with Sault-Ste. Marie of the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Bruins took centre Orland Kurienbach, with Vancouver of the Western Hockey League, from New York and in turn the Rangers picked up Chicago farmhand Vic Hatfield, a forward with Buffalo of the American Hockey League last season.

Chicago traded forward Eddie Litzenberger to Detroit for Gerry Melynk and rookie Brian Smith, who had been playing with Hershey of the American League.

FONTINATO TRADED

Montreal and New York announced immediately after the draft that Ranger defenceman Lou Fontinato had been traded to the Canadiens to complete a deal under which Montreal defenceman Doug Harvey went to New York as playing coach.

Earlier the league directors increased playoff money for players, reamed the penalty shot rule and approved the addition of three referees to the hall of fame.

Referees named to hockey's shrine were Mickey Ion, Cooper Smeaton and Chaucer Elliott.

(Mickey Ion is well known to old-time Victoria hockey fans as a referee in Pacific Coast Hockey League games at the Willows Arena operated by the Patricks.)

WANTS HOUSE TO FIRE HIM

Fleming Bares Coyne Clash

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming made clear in a Commons statement today that the government will move in Parliament to oust James E. Coyne, controversial Bank of Canada governor.

Minutes later, on a move by Opposition Leader Pearson, the House opened an emergency debate on the government's May 30 request—rejected Tuesday by Mr. Coyne—that he resign immediately.

This climaxed swift-moving developments in which Mr. Fleming announced he will present his long-delayed budget next Tuesday night and accused the central bank governor of frustrating the government's hope of "expansionist" action to boost the economy.

There was immediate speculation—which Mr. Fleming's statement did nothing to discourage—that the "expansionist" policies will be announced in the budget.

He wound up his statement with the announcement that the government shortly will take "appropriate legislative action to meet the needs of the situation."

The announcement came at the end of a lengthy statement in which Mr. Fleming accused the 50-year-old bank governor of frustrating the government's hopes of "expansionist" action to boost the economy. "I now can inform the House that the government will shortly invite Parliament to take appropriate legislative action to meet the needs of the situation."

'Restrictive-Minded Governor'

This action could only be a government move to seek his ouster.

Mr. Coyne disclosed Tuesday he had rejected a May 30 demand by the government that he resign and another similar request by his board of directors made at Quebec City Tuesday.

Mr. Fleming said the main reason the government asked Mr. Coyne to resign was that it "was convinced that Mr. Coyne's continuation in office as governor of the Bank of Canada would stand in the way of the implementation of a comprehensive, sound and responsible economic program designed to raise the levels of employment and production in Canada."

It was the case of an expansion-minded government having to deal with a restrictive-minded governor.

"The government's policy is expansionist, aimed at the creation of more trade, more production and more jobs," Mr. Fleming said.

"The policies advocated by Mr. Coyne are restrictionist—restrictive of trade, restrictive of production and restrictive of jobs."

Mr. Fleming said he would not reply in detail to Mr. Coyne's statement Tuesday "or on its defiant and provocative character."

He said he would give the Commons "the essential facts, virtually none of which appear in that statement."

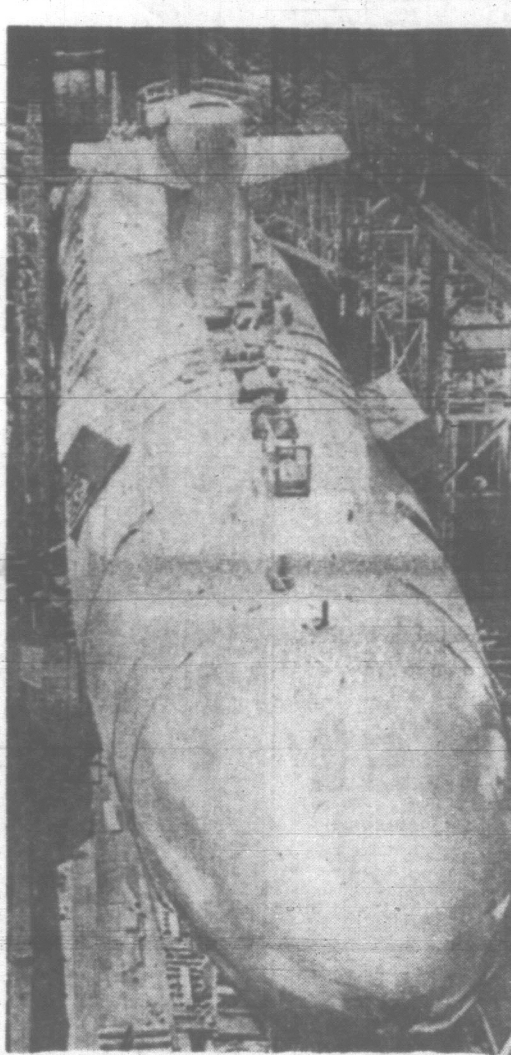

The central bank governor's statement accused the government of casting a "slander upon my own integrity" by attacking an increase in his retirement pension approved 16 months ago by the bank's directors.

He also said Mr. Fleming, in asking for his resignation, had suggested the government wanted him out of the way because of pending government programs "which were apparently thought to be of such character that I would oppose them."

"I cannot and will not resign quietly under such circumstances," said Mr. Coyne, whose seven-year appointment normally would expire next Dec. 31.

Mr. Fleming said that under Mr. Coyne there has been "a steady and deplorable deterioration in the central bank's relations with the public."

The bank governor "by a course of ill-considered action" and a series of policy speeches on public issues outside the realm of central banking "often and openly incompatible with government policy" had embroiled the central bank in continuous controversy.

Open Hearing On Drug Prices

OTTAWA (CP)—Public hearings will be held under federal jurisdiction into prices of drugs and into the distribution and sale of automobile oils, greases and other accessories, Justice Minister Fulton announced today in the Commons.

The hearings will be held in connection with the distribution and sale of automobile oils, greases, anti-freezes and the like will open here Sept. 11.

He said the public hearing in connection with the distribution and sale of auto oils, greases, anti-freezes and the like will open here Sept. 11.

The restrictive trade practices commission said in connection with the drug inquiry that public hearings will be held in other cities with a final hearing in October, probably in Toronto.

The commission said in a statement that it had rejected representations that hearings not be held in public.

C. Rhodes Smith, chairman of the restrictive trade practices commission, said representations may be submitted by an interested party at the public hearings on drugs.

Fleming Charges Must Be Proved

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Pearson said today his party would support a government move to oust Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada if the government could prove Mr. Coyne has blocked implementation of government policy.

But he said in the Commons that Finance Minister Fleming has not proved that case and all the minister's past statements "challenge the validity of that case."

Mr. Pearson made the statement in ending his speech during an emergency Commons debate over the government's unsuccessful attempt to have Mr. Coyne resign. Earlier, Mr. Fleming made it clear the government plans legislation to dismiss him.

The Opposition leader said that if the government asks Parliament to remove Mr. Coyne "because the governor has in fact prevented it from implementing its monetary and fiscal policies" and if the government could establish that in a committee hearing, "we would support that move."

But Mr. Pearson said the finance minister in the past had repeatedly "pooh-poohed" Opposition questions about differences between the government and Mr. Coyne.

CCF Takes Same Position

Erhart Regier, CCF financial critic, took virtually the same position—the CCF group would support Mr. Coyne's removal if the government could prove he was working against government policy.

But Mr. Regier stressed that the government would have to supply an adequate reason—"one substantiated by facts and not just aspersions."

He said the whole situation was the work of a government so "ruthlessly desperate" to win an election that it was smearing and blackening the name of one of Canada's most esteemed public servants.

Mr. Regier said Mr. Coyne had been a scapegoat for a reversal of government economic policy. He predicted that Conservative candidates in the next general federal election would be pillorying Mr. Coyne.

The CCF spokesman, member for Burnaby-Coquitlam, said he wouldn't defend the $25,000 pension voted for retiring governors by the central bank's board of directors—one reason cited by the government for seeking Mr. Coyne's resignation.

Mr. Regier suggested that the government told Mr. Coyne, in effect, "to be a nice little boy and sneak away quietly" and the government would not change the pension level.

He described as surprising the almost unanimous action of the bank's directors Tuesday in asking for Mr. Coyne's resignation. There had been no previous indication that the board was dissatisfied with Mr. Coyne.

PROBE BID

Earlier Mr. Pearson said today a parliamentary committee should investigate policy differences between the government and Mr. Coyne.

He criticized the government for its "heads-will-roll attitude" and said that if it continued, Canada would not be a free country long.

Mr. Pearson spoke for the Liberal Opposition in the Commons after Finance Minister Fleming announced the government would ask Parliament to act on his request that Mr. Coyne resign from the governorship of the bank—a request Mr. Coyne refused.

He criticized Mr. Fleming for saying today that there had been a steady and deplorable deterioration in relations between the government and the bank, saying that earlier the minister had insisted the government had no authority over bank policy.

Conservative back-benchers protested with shouted interjections, but Prime Minister Diefenbaker looked back over

FLEMING PRESENTS BUDGET TUESDAY

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming announced today he will present his long-delayed budget next Tuesday evening, June 20.

The minister's announcement, ending weeks of waiting, was made while the House awaited a statement by him on the Coyne dispute.

There had been widespread speculation that the Coyne issue had been a factor in the delay in bringing down the budget—normally presented around the April 1 start of the fiscal year.

Galleries Packed to Hear Drama

Matters of highest importance, requiring the greatest teamwork ever between the government and the bank, were awaiting decision and action by the two. But it had become impossible to expect such co-operation as long as Mr. Coyne remained in office.

"It was perfectly plain to the government that whatever assurances Mr. Coyne might give of co-operation for the future, the public could have no confidence that Bank of Canada policy would support government policy, having in mind the frequent declarations by the governor which clearly run counter to the policies of the government."

There's jist somethin' about fountain art an' monetary policy that makes ever'body an expert.

NANAIMO — Hector Richmond, consulting entomologist to the B.C. lumber industry, is in satisfactory condition in hospital following severe burns suffered Monday in an oil stove explosion.

According to reports Mr. Richmond, formerly of Victoria and now living at Loft-house Road, Cedar, was pouring oil into the stove when an explosion enveloped him in flames.

Mrs. Richmond, awakened by the blast, doused the flames with a fire extinguisher kept in the kitchen.

Sewage Loan Announced

A federal loan of $382,533 was announced today for Saanich to help with the construction of the municipality's new sewage treatment project.

The project, to serve the Shelbourne-Gordon Head area will cost an estimated $1,200,000. The loan is repayable in 20 years at an annual interest rate of 5% per cent.

Saanich hoped for a larger loan.

The facts were still missing after Mr. Fleming's "partial and phantasmagorical elucidation."

The government's primary concern in asking the removal of Governor Coyne was political and not economic. It had been politically embarrassed by Mr. Coyne's statements.

It had used as a smokescreen the relatively unimportant matter of pensions for directors and Mr. Coyne.

Mr. Pearson said that Mr. Fleming's case today was contradicted by statements he had made earlier in the session. He said Mr. Fleming's request for Mr. Coyne's resignation was an intervention in the affairs of the bank Mr. Fleming said earlier the government could not make.

Speaker Michener, who warned the House at the outset that speeches should be short and factual, without controversy, warned Mr. Pearson he should take only two more minutes.

"Closure," shouted J. W. Pickersgill (L. — Bonaville-Twillingate) and a chorus of Liberal back-benchers.

Mr. Pearson said the government must have known that the bank's board of directors acted 16 months ago to raise Mr. Coyne's pension since Mr. Fleming's deputy—Kenneth Taylor—was a board member.

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Taylor did not attend the meeting because he had been called away by a death in his family.

Mr. Pearson maintained the government's explanation for its request for Mr. Coyne's resignation is a rationalization of the mess it got itself into through its own arrogance and arbitrariness.

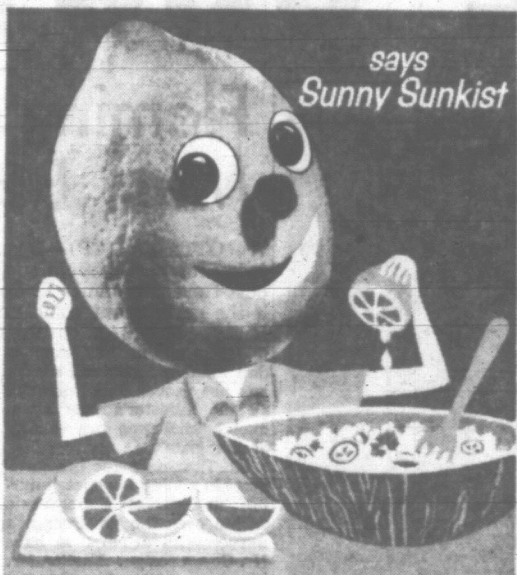

He said the administration allows problems to go on and on, hoping they will disappear. When the problem became a crisis, the government took panic action based on political expediency.

Mr. Pearson said Finance Minister Fleming was telling Mr. Coyne the latter's speeches were embarrassing the government at the same time Mr. Fleming was telling the Commons that Mr. Coyne was free to say what he wanted.

Mr. Pearson said the government has given the "sinister" impression that Mr. Coyne had taken action on his own to increase his pension.

The government had taken months to decide that this action didn't meet the high

'Chaos' Hits N.Y. When Power Cut

NEW YORK (AP)—The second massive power failure in less than two years threw five square miles of midtown Manhattan into a 4½-hour chaos involving millions of people Tuesday. It was the hottest June 13 in the city's history.

From skyscraper peak to subway bottom—and in-between—residents of this always cramped metropolis were snarled in the vivid example of electricity's value to modern man. No one was reported injured.

The power went out just as the mammoth office buildings began pouring their tens of thousands into the streets. Riders were trapped in elevators.

Minor U.S. Envoy Ousted by Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—A U.S. diplomat was put under house detention for three days in Stanleyville and then flown out of the Cizenga-ruled stronghold on the first available plane, it was disclosed here Monday.

The diplomat, U.S. Embassy second secretary Frank Carlucci, had been declared "persona non grata" by the Stanleyville regime last April but returned a week ago on what he called a normal political officer's visit to an area where the U.S. has no diplomatic representation. The Stanleyville government said he had carried out subversive activities.

The Commons galleries, which can seat some 600 persons, were packed as Mr. Fleming read his statement to the House. Some spectators were standing and scores of others waited outside the doors hoping they might eventually squeeze in for part of the drama.

Mr. Fleming said that if Mr. Coyne had complied with the government's May 30 request for his resignation, the bank's directors at their Quebec City meeting Monday and Tuesday would have been able to take action on the resignation and "it so disposed" to name a successor with the cabinet's approval.

The minister had hoped to announce today that this course had been followed "and that the whole matter would have been handled with dignity and consideration."

"Mr. Coyne, however, has chosen to reject the request and to provoke a controversy."

The minister said he was informed that, at the board of directors' meeting, Mr. Coyne was made fully aware on Monday that the board would ask for his resignation if he didn't submit it.

He said that Tuesday morning, when it was clear the board was about to introduce a resolution asking his immediate resignation, Mr. Coyne left the meeting and issued his press statement disclosing the government's May 30 request for his resignation.

"In so doing he left the public with the false impression that the only request for his resignation had come from the government."

TROPHY WON

His paper will be presented with $75 cash and the perpetual guild trophy.

Money must be used to improve the newspapers in future editions.

Some criticisms of other entries were unbalanced presentation, poor makeup, wordiness, lack of material and too many jokes. It was noted since criticism in earlier contests there was generally less frivolous material in the entries.

Mr. Coyne has not been told of the contents of the forthcoming budget and therefore has no right to express views about it, the minister said.

He noted also that the governor had said he was given no indication by the government of disagreement with his views on economic policy.

"In my last two budgets and in various other public statements," Mr. Fleming said, "it has been clear for some time that there have been major differences of opinion with the frequently-expressed views of the governor on economic matters."

Both the board and the government had asked for his resignation but in the face of this he had stated his determination to remain in office, "though unwanted," for the remaining 6½ months of his term.

Dealing with the pension is sue — the increase to $25,000 from $12,000 in the governor's special pension on retirement this year — Mr. Fleming said the government became aware only this spring of the increase, approved by the bank directors Feb. 15 last year.

The government "considered that the governor was lacking in a sense of responsibility in keeping with his high office in accepting an additional benefit worth $13,000 a year for life without ensuring that the matter was brought to the attention of the government."

The minister said the government—not the governor—"has been continuously defending the integrity of the Bank of Canada."

"For this, and for this alone, the government has patiently borne misunderstanding and even abuse in the hope of shielding the bank from becoming, as a result of the actions and assertions of the governor, a centre of political controversy."

Forget Power Export Urges Liberal Chief

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia should forget about exporting hydro power to the United States and concentrate on the development of power-oriented industries at home, Liberal Leader Perrault said today.

"The premier's . . . talk about an eager and waiting re-export market is foolish and utterly irresponsible," said Mr. Perrault in a detailed statement on the party's position on power exports.

He added that Premier W. A. C. Bennett's Social Credit government's power policy is one of "deliberate confusion."

"We (the Liberals) can see no substantial market for export power in the northwest states until at least 1970. My personal estimate now has been advanced . . . to at least 1975."

Bargaining Near For Laos Peace

GENEVA (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, who wants to become premier of a neutral Laos, told the Geneva Laotian conference today that if his country becomes completely independent it will never allow foreign troops or bases on its soil.

"We will proclaim our neutrality and our desire not to enter into any military alliances," he said.

Souvanna, 60, came to Geneva with his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Communist-backed Pathet Lao rebels. Souvanna calls himself a neutralist and is recognized by the Communists as Laos' legal premier.

The two are to meet Prince Boun Oum, premier of the Western-supported Royal Laotian government Saturday at Zurich.

The storm of East-West accusations at the 14-nation parlay has showed signs of abating. Long-delayed bargaining on rival peace plans may be near.

Western spokesmen indicated they are ready to call for the conference to break up into working groups to consider Soviet and Western proposals for unifying and neutralizing the southeast Asian kingdom and keeping it peaceful.

While the delegates debated, reports reaching U.S. officials in Geneva said the fighting continues in Laos, with the Communist Pathet Lao forces maintaining pressure in northern, central and southeastern Laos.

NEW EXCHANGE DEAL FOR REBEL LEADERS

Castro Wants Killer Freed

HAVANA (UPI)—The Castro government said today it would exchange the three captured leaders of last April's abortive invasion attempt only for a convicted child slayer, an imprisoned U.S. Communist leader and the head of Puerto Rico's Nationalist party.

That is the only basis on which the three invasion commanders will be freed, the government-controlled morning newspapers announced. The announcement came as American farm experts were expected to start negotiations here on Premier Fidel Castro's proposed exchange of U.S. made tractors for the 1,200 captured invaders.

The leaders of the invasion were Manuel Artime, Jose San Roman, and Rafael Bolivar Fuentes.

The newspaper said Artime will be freed in exchange for Francisco (The Hook) Molina, pro-Castro Cuban now awaiting sentencing for killing a 9-year-old Venezuelan girl in a New York restaurant during a gunfight between pro and anti-Castro Cuban groups last September.

Bolivar Fuentes will be released in exchange for Henry Winston, 50-year-old Negro leader of the U.S. Communist party. Winston is in prison.

San Roman will be exchanged for Pedro Albizu Campos, aged and ailing leader of the anti-American Nationalist party in Puerto Rico who was convicted of trying to foment a revolution against U.S. authority several years ago.

The negotiators said they will leave Cuba Thursday whether or not they get an agreement and indications were they will not.
